Rusk Deplores Arms Secrecy By Russians

Secretary of State Hopes for Effective Test Ban Treaty

LONDON (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned today the East-West arms race cannot be ended unless and until Soviet Union abandons its obsession on secrecy. He spoke at the opening ministerial session of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO).

"The Soviet Union has, thus far, been unwilling to agree to an effective treaty banning all nuclear testing," Rusk said. "In the circumstances, the United States has had no choice but to assume its responsibility to look to the common defense and conduct a limited series of atmospheric nuclear tests."

Pledges U. S. Support

Rusk then added: "Secrecy and disarmament are incompatible." Rusk assured America's friends in CENTO that the United States would go on working with them to insure the defense and stability of the Middle East against continued threat of Communist aggression.

CENTO consists of Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and Britain. The United States takes part in its work as an associate member. The alliance grew out of the Baghdad Pact.

Pakistan, with the support of Iran and Turkey, has been urging the United States to play a bigger role in Middle East defense, possibly by changing its associate membership to full membership. Those nations also have been pressing for an American general to be commander of the CENTO planning staff, but neither the Americans nor the British like the idea.

Youth Admits Starting Rochester School Fire

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police said a 10-year-old boy admitted starting a fire Sunday that wrecked a Roman Catholic elementary school building in suburban Irondequoit. The loss was estimated at a half million dollars.

Police said the boy, not identified because of his age, would be turned over to juvenile authorities.

A fire official said the youngster admitted setting three fires in the two-story brick building at St. Ambrose School.

Oshkosh Man, 38, Charged In Death of Mrs. May Gokey

Second Negro Family Uses 'Freedom Bus'

NEW YORK (AP) — Another New Orleans Negro family has arrived here via what a fare-paying segregationist group calls "Freedom Buses" and a U. S. senator from New York describes as an "overground railroad" reminiscent of pre-Civil War days.

Shelby Williams, 24, a longshoreman, and his wife, 20, said upon arrival Sunday that they came in quest of a job and "just to be American citizens." Williams said he had been without work for six months.

Register At Hotel

Dozens met the visibly nervous couple at the bus depot. One Negro family offered them a room in their Harlem apartment. They expressed thanks, but took a hotel room to decide what to do.

The Williamses were the second Negro family in eight days to come here on one-way fares paid for by the white Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans. The council has offered similar treatment to other Louisiana Negroes.

Strong criticism of the Freedom Buses came from Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who told an audience in a small church in Harlem Sunday night: "I predict that this overground railroad will mark the beginning of the end of segregation as the basis of the Southern social order."

Lightning Strikes Barns During Rain

Combined Damages Estimated at $50,000 in Appleton, Clintonville

A spring thunderstorm moving through the Fox Cities area this morning carried with it lightning responsible for three major fires in rural areas.

Destroyed by flames after barns were hit by lightning were buildings owned by Orville Johann, route 4, Appleton, and William Boettcher, Clintonville.

The three barns, two on Johann's property, were damaged an estimated $50,000.

By 10:40 a. m. 0.9 of an inch of rain had dropped, the skies had lightened and hail was falling. All through the storm, weathermen stood firm in their belief the storm would relent, giving way to clear skies and temperatures as high as 70 degrees. Tuesday, they said, would be sunny and pleasant, but a little cooler.

Above Normal

The Wisconsin five-day forecast said temperatures would average about five degrees above normal highs of about 60 and normal lows of about 40 through Saturday. A warming influence was predicted for Wednesday and Thursday and then not much change Friday and Saturday. Another taste of spring precipitation, about one-half inch of it, was predicted for Friday or Saturday.

$30,000 Loss

Damage at Johann's is estimated at about $30,000.

One barn was apparently struck by lightning about 8:20 a. m. Destroyed were two barns, 40 by 60 feet and 36 by 72 feet.

In addition, an attached milkhouse, 3,000 bales of hay and 1,000

Scroll Honors Rep. Byrnes for Service to U. S.

WASHINGTON—More than 1,000 persons representing top level positions in government and industry Sunday night gave a standing ovation for Rep. John W. Byrnes who received the George Washington award of the American Good Government Society.

The citation, which was presented to Byrnes in the form of a scroll, eulogized him as a "lawyer, patriot, realistic politician, economist and statesman."

The citation also mentioned Byrnes' penetrating mind and economy-minded conservatism which carried with it the realization of fiscal responsibility.

Introduced by Holland

Introducing the Green Bay congressman was Sen. Spessard Holland, D. Fla., a ranking member of the Senate Finance Committee. Holland won the good will of the many Green Bay people who attended the dinner while here for the 50th anniversary of the founding of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce by complimenting Green Bay as being the home of the world's champion packer team.

"Another notable event for which Green Bay is famous is the birth of Johnny Byrnes in 1913," Sen. Holland said. He traced Byrnes' life which he said showed early the qualities of leadership the congressman possesses.

Sen. Holland then commended the Wisconsin congressman's "rise to responsibility and leadership in the Congress."

He stressed that Byrnes' success particularly for his work on the tax

George Schuster Faces Hearing May 8 on Third Degree Murder Count

OSHKOSH — George Schuster, 38, 1045 Cozy Lane, Oshkosh, this morning was arraigned on a third degree murder charge in the April 19 death of Mrs. May Gokey, 61, County Judge Arnold J. Cane set $10,000 bond for preliminary hearing at 2 p. m. May 8.

Schuster has denied knowing what caused Mrs. Gokey's death. A pathologist ruled she died of a heart attack, probably caused by a physical assault.

Schuster voluntarily underwent a lie detector test at Madison Friday and the results indicated he had knowledge of how Mrs. Gokey died, District Atty. Jack Steinhilber said.

The charge against Schuster reads that he assaulted and attempted carnal knowledge of Mrs. Gokey.

The former Racine resident has admitted being in the Gokey house the night she died. He told authorities he had been at the Vice President bar, which is next to Mrs. Gokey's home, began feeling sick and went to see Mrs. Gokey.

Denied Hitting Her

He denied hitting the woman and said much of the night was hazy. He apparently frequented the tavern often and knew Mrs. Gokey, who is part owner of the building.

Her body was found April 21 by James Mathwig, who runs the tavern. He had become suspicious when he hadn't seen her around for several days and checked to see if anything was wrong.

Mathwig told police he found the rear door broken in and the woman's body lying on the floor near her bed.

Her face was bruised and one rib was broken, according to the pathologist's report. The report also indicated "strong evidence" of sexual assault.

Salvage Vessels Striving to Keep Norse Ship Afloat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Norwegian ship Tarantel, her right side ripped from water line to deck in a Chesapeake Bay collision Sunday, rested aground today while men from two Navy salvage vessels battled to keep her from settling deeper.

The bodies of two passengers killed when the Tarantel was rammed just about amidship by the Greek freighter Hellenic Splendor remained aboard the stricken vessel. The Greek ship, although heavily damaged, continued under her own power to Philadelphia.

Heavy fog shrouded the bay when the ships collided about 6:20 a. m. Sunday. Water poured through the gash in the Tarantel's side and she wallowed stern down. A tug and a Navy salvage vessel put lines aboard and were towing her toward a shipyard when she scraped aground.

The Coast Guard said the Tarantel's agents have decided to leave the vessel where she is until an underwater survey determines whether temporary patches should be made before she is towed into a shipyard for repair.

Crowds Slow Progress

Titov Orbiting Globe 17 Times but Manhattan Traffic Brings Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov has discovered that going around the globe 17 times is a snap compared to orbiting nighttime Manhattan.

The Soviet spaceman and his pretty brunette wife, Tamara, 24, wasted little time Sunday night in hitting the tourist trail.

Slowed As Tourists

A 6:30 p. m. they were walking down the ramp from a Soviet turboprop airliner at Idlewild Airport. At 7:30 p. m. they were arriving at the Soviet United Nations mission headquarters on Park Avenue.

They took only an hour and a half to freshen up before they were off again. The plan, apparently, was a quick and quiet tour of some of the sights of the brightly lit city.

Thanks to midtown traffic, the tour wasn't as quick as intended.

small boy in a sailor suit, and replied in Russian when the children said "thank you." The medals read "Vostok II" — the name of the spaceship that took him around the earth 17 times.

At Times Square, plainclothes police had to clear a crowded sidewalk so Titov and his party could get out of their limousines for a stroll. As the strollers moved up the east side of the square the crowd around Titov grew until it stopped traffic briefly and hid the cosmonaut entirely.

"He's a little fellow!" was the surprised comment of one after another in the crowd.

Introduced in Theater

The motorcade swept around to Eighth Avenue as fast as traffic would allow, and the Titovs dashed into a small theater whose

Nobel Winners Kennedy Guests

President Honors Famed Group From Western Hemisphere

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy toasted his 173 dinner guests—Nobel Prize winners and men and women of letters—as the most extraordinary collection of talent ever gathered at the White House.

He called them all together Sunday night—a potpourri of the famed—to honor the Nobel Prize winners of the Western Hemisphere.

The 49 Nobel winners on hand for the biggest dinner held at the White House in modern times greeted each other with delight. They said no one before had ever thought to bring so many of them together at once.

In gay, good humor, some started after-dinner waltzing in the north entrance hallway where Air Force musicians were playing.

One of the first to take a turn in black tie on the marble floor was Dr. Linus C. Pauling, Nobel Prize winning chemist who only hours before was picketing the White House in the rain with a group protesting resumption of U. S. nuclear air tests.

Guests Get Autographs

Many of the guests—famed in fields from physics to peace—stopped the President and his wife to ask for autographs on their engraved dinner menus.

There were some who had never before set foot in the White House. There was astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., only recently feted there as the nation's hero—the first American to orbit the earth.

The President, raising his glass in a champagne toast, told his guests that the dinner party in a sense was an attempt to recognize two very basic drives and pressures in our lives—"the pursuit of knowledge and the pursuit of peace."

Wisconsin Parachutist Killed in Texas Jump

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — A Wisconsin man who had just completed training with the Air Reserve was killed Sunday when he made a parachute jump from a small plane in an exercise with a skydiving club.

Ronald H. Loresen, 29, of Florence, Wis., had completed his training at Randolph Air Force Base and was scheduled to leave for home today. A commercial plane ticket was in his pocket.

Loresen, who was jumping with the Lone Star Skydivers of San Antonio, was found on his back, his hands still clutching the main parachute ripcord, but it had not been pulled.

Tuesday partly cloudy and cooler south-east and a little warmer north-west portion. High today ranging from near 60s northwest and along the lake east to low 50s extreme southeast. Low tonight 35-45. Mostly fair and warmer Wednesday.

Appleton — Temperatures for 24-hour period ending 9 a. m.: High, 50; low, 40. Temperature at 10 a. m.: Barometer reads 29.75. Wind is from the northeast at 18 miles an hour. There was 1.07 inches of rain.

Sun sets at 7:36 p. m., rises Tuesday at 5:45 a. m. Frost- nent star in Betelgeuse.

George Schuster, 38, center, stands next to his attorney Simon Horwitz, during his arraignment in Oshkosh this morning on a third degree murder charge in the April 19 death of Mrs. May Gokey, 61. Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber is at left. Winnebago County Judge Arnold J. Cane ordered bond of $10,000 for preliminary hearing May 8. Schuster has indicated he will plead innocent.

French Attitude at NATO Talks to Be Uncompromising

Negative Response Likely to New American Nuclear Policy

Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — France — namely President Charles de Gaulle — has decided to prove a tough and uncompromising partner at the forthcoming NATO ministerial council in Athens May 4.

France's attitude will be entirely negative on the new nuclear policy that the United States is preparing to discuss with its NATO partners. On two other subjects that will inevitably appear on the agenda, disarmament and Berlin, according to the latest information available here, France will prove more radical and uncompromising than other European NATO members, including Germany. Not only will France reject any plan for compromise with the Soviets but she will once more put forward de Gaulle's stern opposition to any negotiations with Russia at this time.

The only point on which France might show some willingness to go along with U.S. policy is on

2 Deaths Hike Fatality Toll

Sunday Accidents Raise Number to 217 For Year

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two youths were killed in an auto crash near downtown Milwaukee and a father of seven died in a Kenosha accident early today, raising Wisconsin's 1962 highway toll to 217 as compared with 247 on this date a year ago.

James Resch, 16, and Frank Schilling, 16, both of Milwaukee were killed and two companions were injured critically shortly after midnight when a car slammed into a building, bounced across the street, sideswiped a parked auto and crashed into a utility pole. Injured were Donald Leonard, 18, of Niagara, identified by police as the driver, and Ingrid Leach Bergstrom, 15, of Milwaukee.

AMC Employee

In Kenosha, Valentine Platt, 38, an American Motors employee, died at St. Catherine Hospital shortly after the car in which he was riding struck a tree about 3:30 a.m. today.

Three persons were killed in weekend accidents in the state. James D. Mays, 42, Union Grove, was killed Saturday night when his car crashed into an embankment at a highway junction near the abandoned Bong Air Force Base in Kenosha County.

Gerald L. Rathjke, 20, died when a car left a Walworth County road and crashed in a ditch Saturday near his home in the Elkhorn area. Three companions were injured.

Miss Harriet Katz, 17, of Hales Corners was killed early Saturday in a head-on collision on Highway 15 in New Berlin. She would have been 18 Sunday. The car in which she was riding was not equipped with seat belts.

House Returns To Work After Easter Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House knuckles down to work today after a 10-day Easter vacation, while the Senate plods along with its debate over a bill to prevent racial discrimination in voter literacy tests.

No major bills were ticketed for immediate consideration in the House, but before the end of the week leaders hope to bring up a bill urged by President Kennedy to set up a private corporation to own and operate a communications satellite system.

Before the week ends Senate leaders reportedly plan to initiate a move to clamp a time limit on the debate that began last Wednesday on the voter literacy bill — the administration's principal civil rights measure.

The bill, strongly opposed by its Southern foes, would exempt anyone with a 6th-grade education from having to take a state literacy test to qualify as a voter in presidential and congressional elections.

Japan's Relentless Merrymakers Have a 'Ball' During Golden Week

BY KEYES BEECH

Chicago Daily News Service

TOKYO — This is "Golden Week" in Japan and its 92,000,000 people, probably the most relentless merrymakers in the world, are going to have a good time even if it kills them.

In many cases it most assuredly will.

Golden Week, which wraps up three national holidays — Emperor's Birthday, Constitution and Children's Day — in one week, is a sort of combination Fourth of July and Memorial Day weekend.

Carnage is expected to be terrific as an estimated 13,000,000 people head for vacation spots by car, train, boat, plane, motor scooter, bicycle and foot.

Hotels Booked Solid

Hotels and inns were booked solid from one end of the country to the other — some for a year in advance.

Complacent innkeepers who never had it so good hiked their prices 30 per cent across the board over last year.

"Guests are like moths attracted by a flame," one hotel man said poetically.

Dozens of extra trains were scheduled. Tokyo and Ueno stations, the two main railway outlets from this city of 10,000,000 people, added hundreds of extra workers to cope with the holiday exodus.

Husky Students

Platoons of husky students were hired to push people onto trains or pull them off as the occasion demanded.

At a time when all travelers expected the worst possible service under the most abominable conditions, one peninsula resort association proclaimed "Be Kind to Women."

Japanese gentlemen, their faces red from too much rice wine or whiskey, joyfully stripped down to their long cotton underwear on boats and trains — to the help-

Little Support For Farm Plan, Proxmire Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today there is little support among the nation's farmers for the administration's proposal for mandatory controls on production of corn, sorghums and other feed grains.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, of which Proxmire is a member, recently voted 9-8 for a Proxmire amendment to the general farm bill to retain the voluntary feed grain program now in effect for another year.

Both President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman want Congress to enact new general farm legislation with provisions for mandatory controls on not only the feed grains but wheat and other commodities as well.

It is expected that Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, will try to have the Senate restore the mandatory feed grain provision when the farm bill gets to the floor for action.

Proxmire, who expects the vote on the issue to be close, said he will fight to retain the voluntary program.

Sorority on Probation for Taking Negro

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A social sorority at Beloit (Wis.) College, which pledged a Negro girl, is reported to have been placed on probation by its national council.

The Des Moines Sunday Registry published a story that Delta Gamma received recent notice of Miss Hamilton's probation action because it pledged Patricia Hamilton, 21, a junior from Madison, Wis., a month ago.

The Register also said that the national council has set June 30 as the date for a decision on whether to suspend the charter of the Beloit chapter.

The newspaper quoted Mrs. Robert W. Preston of Roslyn Heights, N.Y., national president of Delta Gamma, as saying: "This is a private organization. When we have disciplinary actions there is no reason why we Rash of Multiple Death Accidents Sweeps U. S.

19 Persons Perish, Several Injured in Wave of Automobile, Plane, Boat Tragedies

At least 19 persons perished Sunday in a rash of multiple-death automobile, plane and boating accidents. Several persons were injured and three were missing.

Near Bonita, La., a vacationing Texas family of four was burned to death after their car was struck from behind and the gas tank exploded in what police described as a hit-and-run accident. The dead were Paul Richard Mullins, 39; his wife, Ruby, 28; and their two children, Louis E., 7, and Paula Jean, 6. The Houston, Tex., family was en route to Greenville, Miss.

Three Charges

M. L. Thompson, 24, of Wilmet, Ark., was arrested later in Ham-burg, Ark., and held for Louisiana authorities on charges of hit-and-run driving, negligent homicide and drunken driving.

Eight persons died in separate accidents involving light planes—one in east central Indiana, and the other in Nebraska.

Vernard Gross, fishing near Fountain City, Ind., told of watching in horror as a small plane disintegrated in flight, dropping parts and bodies into a woodland. Gross said he heard "a terrible noise like a plane doing acrobatics" and saw a plane come out of the clouds.

"Suddenly a wing fell off," he said. "Then, one by one, four bodies dropped from the craft."

The dead were identified as Carl L. Dehmer Jr., 36, of Wichita, Kan.; his wife, Virginia, 35; Richard H. Ivers, 35, of Sapulpa, Okla.; and his wife, Grace, 34.

A Minden, Neb., businessman and his three children were killed in a crash near Cushing, Neb. An official said the light plane crashed in a field, apparently as it tried to land in a fog.

Victims Listed

The dead were William Dale Morris, 46, and his children, James L. 15; Allen Dale, 23; and Diane, 19. They were traveling to Creighton, Neb., for the silver wedding anniversary celebration of Morris' sister-in-law, Mrs. George Nielsen.

Three children were drowned and three other persons were missing after a big wave from a passing ship capsized a 16-foot outboard motorboat in Galveston Bay at Houston, Tex. Eight persons were aboard the motorboat.

Killed were Gus Wesley Smith, 1; Charles Smith Jr., 5, and Betty Smith, 4. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, were missing, as was Danny Ray Henry, 12.

Canadians May Chose a New Prime Minister

Conservatives Face Test in June 18 National Election

BY FRANK FLAHERTY
Chicago Daily News Service
OTTAWA, Ontario — Canadians go to the polls June 18 to elect a new House of Commons and, possibly, a new prime minister and a new cabinet.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker who, with his Conservative Party, has ruled Canada for the last five years has called an election a full year before he needed to do so.

His opponents say he's gambling on winning before the voters wake up to the full consequences of five years of misrule.

His friends say he's so confident the voters love him and his works that he wants a mandate to move on to new and better things.

Indications are the Diefenbaker may win, but with a smaller majority than in the last election in 1958—but he could lose to the Liberal Party under Lester B. Pearson.

At stake are 265 seats in the House of Commons. Of these the Conservative Party held 203 until Parliament was dissolved this week. The Liberal Party, led by ex-diplomat and Nobel Peace Prize winner "Mike" Pearson held 52. The mildly socialistic New Democratic Party, led by Thomas C. Douglas, held eight and there were two vacancies.

Could Lose 70
Diefenbaker and the Conservatives can lose 70 seats and not be thrown for a complete loss. Pearson and the Liberals have a much greater problem.

Historically the Conservative and Liberal parties in Canada correspond to the Republicans and the Democrats in the United States. They do not, however, dominate Canadian elections to the same extent as the two American parties.

Between them they have shared the honors and responsibility of governing the country since it was set up on its present basis in 1867, but they have rivals.

The Liberals profess to be mildly radical, eager for change and reform. Until lately the Conservatives have tended to fight change, cling to tradition. John Diefenbaker, however, set out to change the popular image of his party.

In five years of office he beefed up the welfare schemes inaugurated by the Liberals in their 22 years of power. Now he promises further goodies in the form of health insurance and improved old age pensions.

Charges Hurdled
Pearson and his Liberals will accuse him of recklessness and inefficiency. By boosting welfare in a period of declining revenues and at the same time cutting taxes he incurred staggering deficits—$751,000,000 in the last fiscal year, a total of more than $2 billion in five years.

At the same time the Liberals seek to match and outdo Diefenbaker's promises of more welfare to come.

Vying for honors in the coming vote will be two so-called "minor parties," the New Democrats and Social Crediters. Both hope to contest most of the 265 constituencies and win enough to give them a base from which to bid for power in a later election.

Both parties had their origins in the troubled days of the great depression of the 1930s. The New Democrats, recently reorganized, are officially endorsed by the Canadian Congress of Labor and profess a mild form of democratic socialism.

The Social Crediters started out as a money reform party. Over the years their leaders won and held control of two provincial governments in Alberta and British Columbia. They believe private enterprise can be made to work better with an improved monetary system and are violently antisocialist.

Repatriation to Start For Goa's Portuguese

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Indian military authorities said Sunday they will begin repatriation Wednesday of 4,300 Portuguese interned following India's seizure of the former Portuguese enclaves of Goa, Damao and Diu.

The Portuguese, mostly soldiers and officials, will be transported by plane to Karachi, Pakistan, where they will board ships for Lisbon, authorities said.

Czechs Use New Purge Methods

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — Czechoslovakia, which claims to have pioneered some aspects of modern Communist tactics, is breaking new ground in the matter of party purges.

If the new Czech process is adopted generally, unsuccessful or potential dangerous rivals for party leadership will not be damned in the future for their ideological failings or their political conspiracies.

Instead they will be jailed as common criminals.

The laboratory specimen is Rudolf Barak, formerly deputy premier and minister of interior, who might possibly have succeeded Anton Novotny, the Czech party leader and state president.

Misappropriating Funds
Barak's troubles coincide with the new wave of "de-Stalinization" in the Soviet sphere, but Barak himself seems less vulnerable on this score than Novotny.

Instead, Barak, his former personal assistant and an unannounced number of other "close co-workers" have been accused of misappropriating official funds and using them for their own enrichment, not by any means an exclusively Communist crime.

"Under pressure of the evidence," say Communist news agency reports, "all of the accused have admitted their guilt."

Their trial has still to take place. This system of disposing of rivals has distinct advantages for leaders in the Soviet bloc over the show trials of the Stalin period.

Lawrence Says Constitutional Interpretation Varies Greatly

New York Times Editorial on Voting Rights 'Startling'

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—An editorial in the New York "Times" on the subject of "qualifications" for voting has startled many of the constitutional lawyers of the country. The doctrine expressed is novel. It is that, when the Fifteenth Amendment was adopted just after the Civil War, this action gave Congress an overriding power to fix voters qualifications.

The "Times" editorial puts it this way:

"The Constitution does provide, in Section 2 of Article 1, that voters for Congress shall have the qualifications fixed by each state for electors of the most numerous house of its legislature. But this provision, like all others in the Constitution, is subject to the overriding limitations imposed after the Civil War in the Fifteenth Amendment. The Fifteenth Amendment says that the right to vote shall not be 'denied or abridged' on account of race or color. And it gives Congress the power to enforce that sweeping command by 'appropriate legislation.'"

17th Amendment
But, if this be true, lawyers are asking what was the meaning of the action taken—43 years after the Fifteenth Amendment was proclaimed—when the people of the United States in 1913 ratified the Seventeenth Amendment reiterating the exact language of the original Article 1?

For if an amendment adopted at a later date "overrode" its predecessors and opened the way to "appropriate legislation" on voter qualifications, then didn't the 1913 amendment supersede the 1870 amendment and restore to the previous language its full constitutional effect? Here is what the Seventeenth Amendment says:

"The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, elected by the people thereof, for six years and each senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures."

States Rights
This relates specifically to the sole right of the states to fix voter "qualifications." It is obvious that every voter must always be given a square deal and cannot be denied his chance to vote only because of race or color. But to say that, because the Constitution has forbidden the states to discriminate, they have thereby lost their power to set what they, in their judgment, consider a proper qualification for voting, is to argue that a mere act of Congress now can amend the Constitution.

The "Times" editorial does concede that the states still have some powers left. It says:

"The bill would leave the states free to impose their own educational qualifications for voting. They could require three grades of schooling, or they could make voters have a college degree. Those are objective qualifications, applicable to white and Negro alike. What a state could no longer do is adopt the vague standard of 'literacy' and then apply it unequally to citizens of different color."

Lot of Bother

But the attorney general himself admits that he could prosecute such discrimination today under the Fifteenth Amendment, though he frankly states that a federal law would save him a lot of bother. What the proponents of the new legislation before the Senate this week really are saying is that, because they suspect the good faith of certain states and do not wish to take the trouble to prove in court that those state officers have exercised discrimination, the provisions of the Constitution which give the states the sole power to fix qualifications of voters can be ignored. If, indeed, a state can fix a third-grade education or a college degree as a standard for qualification, it will be asked: Why doesn't a state have the constitutional power to determine and prescribe its own standard of "literacy" and to apply them equally to all persons?

But if Congress has the "overriding" right to fix "standards," then, in an endeavor to abolish racial discrimination in factories, a law could be enacted setting "efficiency" standards in employment based on a fixed number of years of experience in a particular trade or profession. It could require an employer to hire, whenever there are enough applicants, at least one colored worker for every white employee. The argument could be made that "equal protection of the law," as set forth in the Fourteenth Amendment, overrides all other articles of the Constitution.

In reality, the Supreme Court in two decisions has declared that neither the Fourteenth nor the Fifteenth Amendment gave any additional powers to Congress but merely forbade discrimination in respect to the use of existing powers.

There are plenty of ways, however, to circumvent the Constitution if the public is indifferent and accepts the doctrine that "the end justifies the means." There is currently prevalent in some quarters a mood of impatience with the method of amending the Constitution prescribed in that document itself. The New York "Times" expresses something of this mood in the concluding paragraph of its editorial as follows:

"It is time to put aside specious legal arguments and consider the real issue before the Senate and

Research Into Life Basis Speeded Through Biophysics

BY GENE RODGERS

MADISON — Research into the physical and chemical basis of life is accelerating at the University of Wisconsin.

"We expect to invest well over half a million dollars in research and training in the biophysics of sub-cellular life processes over the next five years," William W. Beeman, chairman of the biophysics committee, said Tuesday.

before the country—the right of Negroes to vote."

(Copyright 1962)

Beeman is one of a group of UW biophysicists investigating the size, shape and behavior of proteins, nucleic acids, and viruses, the so-called biological macromolecules.

Proteins are huge molecules, composed of thousands of atoms, which are one of the basic materials which constitute plants and animals. Viruses, the cause of many diseases, are proteins with nucleic acids imbedded in them; nucleic acids impart the ability to reproduce.

The atoms in these molecules are chemically linked into long chains. The chains are coiled and folded in ways characteristic of each molecular type, in many cases forming a small sphere or polyhedron roughly one two-millionths of an inch in diameter. The job of the UW scientists is to discover what the particles look like and how they swell, move, twist, uncoil, and interact in the cell or bloodstream.

The science of sub-cellular biophysics has been rapidly expanding the world over since Watson and Crick in England discovered a few years ago that reproduction and heredity could be explained by the physical and chemical reactions of nucleic acids.

Heinrich Luebke Gets Rare Honor In West Berlin

CHICAGO Daily News Service

BERLIN — Beginning Tuesday and for the rest of his life, Heinrich Luebke, West Germany's federal president, can ride free on any of West Berlin's publicly-owned streetcars, buses and underground trains.

This curious privilege was granted him during a ceremony here this afternoon in which the Westphalian-born farm expert was made an "honorary citizen" of

of the one-time German capital. Twenty-nine years ago after the Nazis came to power Luebke spent several months in one of the city's jails.

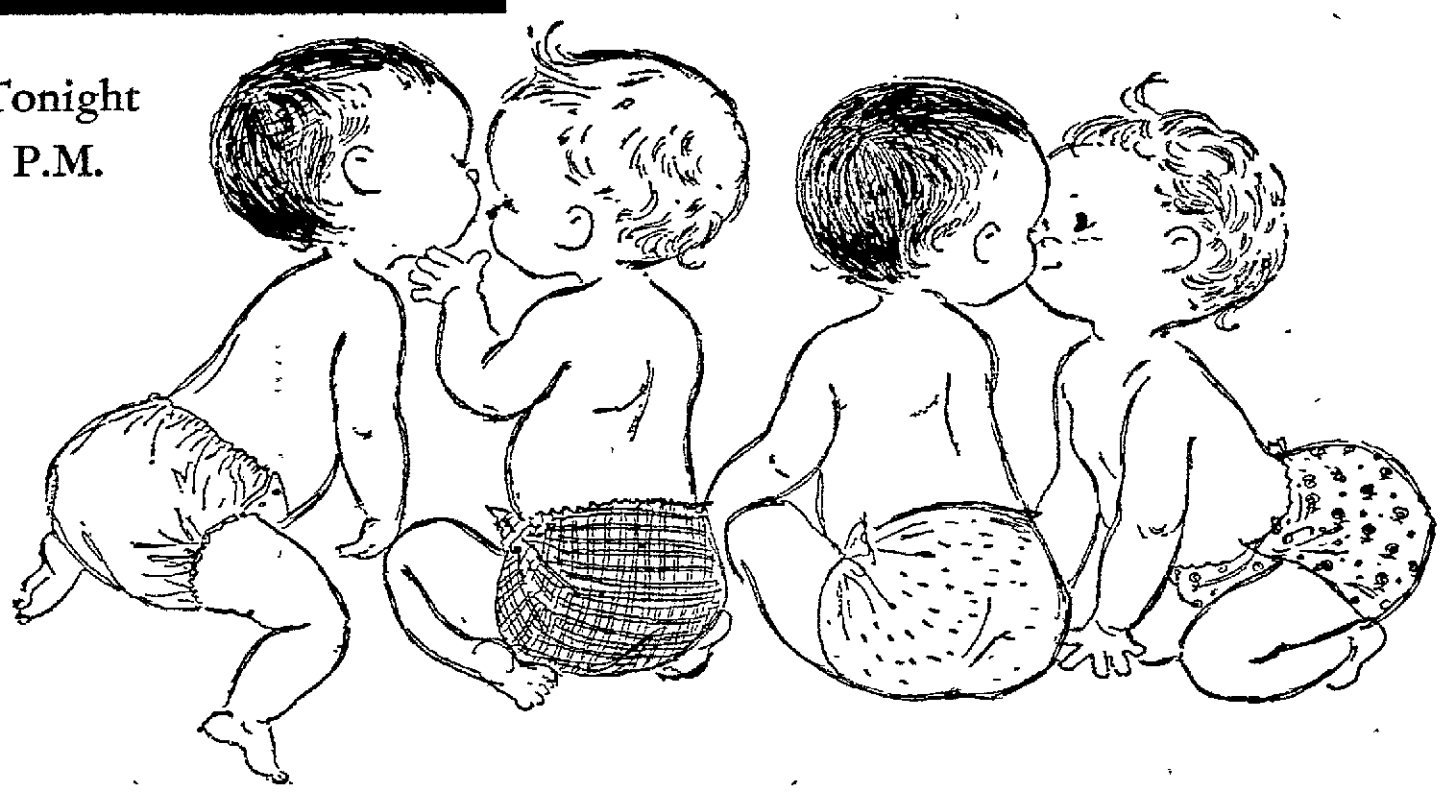

Should he fall on hard times in the future he can ask the city for financial assistance. This is another prerogative that goes with the award. For official ceremonies to which he may be invited he must be supplied an official conveyance.

Berlin has been sparing with these honors. Since the title of "honorary citizen" was introduced more than 150 years ago it has been granted only 72 times.

Fund Drive Plans to be Aired by YMCA

Annual Dinner Meeting Planned
Wednesday Night

Plans for the fund-raising drive for the new YMCA building will be the main point of discussion at the YMCA annual meeting Wednesday. The meeting will start with a 6 p. m. dinner for members and friends of the Y.

Guest speaker is George Cullen Jr. of the American Motors Corp., a member of the YMCA National Council and past president of the Detroit YMCA.

A number of community leaders from business and industry have indicated their interest in the building program, according to John Wollwage, president of the board of directors. He will report on plans for the $1,474,200 fund-raising campaign, which will start formally in November. Bruce Purdy is chairman.

Construction of the new building at the corner of Lawrence and Morrison streets will start in 1963 and be completed in 1964.

The Y's Men's "Youth of the Year" award will be presented at the meeting by Robert Hillmer, president of the Y's Men's Club. Bruce Purdy will present the meritorious service award. William Cherkasky, Y's Men's extension chairman, will give recognition to the Frank Harwood Y's Men's Club, organized this year.

Business will include the president's annual report, a report from the nominating committee by Edward Douglass Jr., and the World Service campaign kick-off by Dr. Robert Johnson.

Music will be provided by a barbershop chorus and quartet.

"Serving Appleton's Growing Needs" is the theme for this year's annual report. Programs added during the past year include the second Y's Men's Club, a boys' youth choir, a Y's Men and Y's Menettes Health Education series for father and son and for mother and daughter, a pre-marriage course for single young adults sponsored by the Young Adult Club and the Appleton Ministerial Association, a Saturday morning club program added to the regular gym and swim activities and a girls' water ballet program.

Curtis Company In Wausau Shuts Down Plant

WAUSAU (AP)—The Curtis Co. a woodworking firm, notified its 260 production workers Saturday not to report for work until further notice.

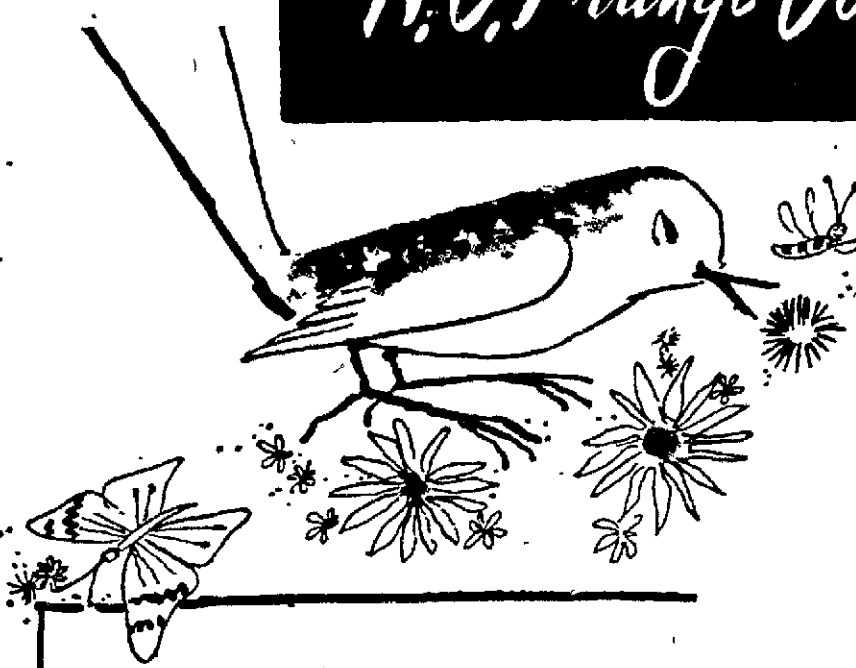

Acton Chalue, general manager of the firm, said at Clinton, Iowa, that it had not been determined how long the employees would be idle. He said several factors brought about the decision to close the plant here temporarily. He did not disclose these factors but indicated the company officials wanted to study the relationship between production and orders on hand.

Chalue said that office workers would not be affected and would report to work as usual today. The firm's plants at Clinton and at New London, Wis., will not close.

The firm's main products are kitchen cabinets and window frames.

Law Day U.S.A.

To many people who become entangled with the law, it may mean a partial or temporary loss of liberty, and for a few it sometimes means complete loss of liberty. Thus the slogan, "The law . . . well-spring of liberty," may seem a little strange. Nevertheless, for the great majority of the people the law and its just enforcement means liberty and freedom to enjoy the great advantages provided by citizenship in this country.

Those who lose their liberty under the law are people who have encroached upon the rights of others and by their activities have tended to rob others of the liberty they are entitled to enjoy.

The National Association of Claimants Counsel of America (NACCA) is urging that special attention be given to this matter on May 1 which is Law Day, U.S.A. The NACCA is urging all Americans to rededicate themselves to preserving the sanctity and inviolability of the jury system so that the ideals of equality and freedom that have characterized the growth of our country will be preserved. Important objectives of Law Day U.S.A. are:

"To foster an abiding respect for the law, enabling our nation to grow in moral strength as it grows in resources, population and world leadership.

"To provide an occasion for the American people to rededicate themselves to freedom for the individual, under just laws administered by independent courts."

These objectives are extremely important. It is sincerely hoped that a large segment of the American people and eventually all of the American people will welcome the opportunity for such an observance because they will have the feeling that law in America truly protects their liberties. There are many forces in Amer-

Misdirected Protests

The demonstrations in opposition to the United States series of nuclear test explosions being conducted in the Pacific can, in part, be written off as largely unimportant to us. Those are the demonstrations organized by active sympathizers of Communism and by those "neutrals" who have decided that opposing the Russian bear is too dangerous and that they can learn to live with its chains.

The other opposition stems primarily from people in the free nations who really believe we must unilaterally stop testing to assure the Russians of our sincerity, and that there is a greater danger to all mankind from the tests than from refraining.

These people apparently have overlooked much of the evidence from the last series of Russian tests, as well as the history of efforts to find a disarmament treaty which all major powers could sign in truth.

Ever since the Russians ended their tests last fall they have been spouting propaganda about our possible testing. U.S. plans, said Gromyko before the Geneva conference began, are "a rather sensitive blow . . . to the negotiations even before they are started." They rejected out of hand, and with a cursory scanning, our last proposal for a treaty designed to lend security to all sides. They have spoken ominously about the "responsibility" for dire future happenings being upon the shoulders of the Western nations when they resume testing.

On the scientific side, the evidence indicates that the Russian tests were designed to better two and maybe three specific weapons. They tested as high as 100 miles above the earth indicating that they are working on an anti-intercontinental ballistic missile and are seeking to discover the "kill radius" of an anti-missile warhead. Their biggest blast, of about 58 megatons, while not equalling Khrushchev's boast of a 100 megaton bomb, may really have been that strong. The warhead was tamped with lead in an effort to hold down both energy released and fall-out. And the relatively small amount of fall-out from the entire series so far detected may indicate that another aim of the Soviets is a neutron "death ray" bomb which will kill life but not destroy structures.

Highway Patrol—Friend of the Tourist

Tourists visiting Wisconsin should have an eye out for members of the Wisconsin State Patrol, not with the idea of evading arrest, but rather because the state patrolman this year will be especially prepared to advise tourists on vacation attractions, accommodations and points of interest in his area.

According to Commissioner James Karns of the Motor Vehicle Department, members of the patrol will put forth a special effort to cooperate with the executive office of Gov. Gaylord Nelson and the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce to act as ambassadors of good will for the state in aiding tourists on our highways.

To prepare the patrolman for his job, ica today working toward the breakdown of public confidence in the agencies of the law. The first contact with the law in the lives of most people often comes through meeting a policeman. Because he is an important figure in law enforcement, the policeman should be recognized as a friend and welcomed everywhere by law-abiding citizens. However, this is not always the case. In the news recently, there have been numerous instances of policemen attempting to make an arrest being jeered by bystanders. On occasion policemen have been severely beaten by thugs and lawbreakers while large groups of American citizens stood by and refused to give a hand.

Such instances are definitely a hindrance to enforcement of the law and they suggest that people would do well to ponder the real purposes of law and law enforcement.

At another level of government, confidence in the law sometimes is shaken by appointment of political judges who fail to provide the dignity and win the respect that is necessary for successful law enforcement. Carelessness by trial judges leading to obviously unfair decisions and sentences for minor crimes either too harsh or too mild also tend to destroy confidence in the law.

Because we have such derogatory influences in America today, it is most important that people see the true situation in spite of occasional miscarriages of justice. It is well worthwhile to make a special effort to interest others in preserving the splendid organization of law administration that has been built up in America and has been the envy of the world in the protection of liberty for all citizens.

But the Russian series, while bringing it dangerously closer to us in yield-to-weight ratio which makes small bombs of huge power possible, probably did not catch them up with us or give sufficient information for the weapons the Russians are seeking. Therefore, it becomes clear, both from the scientific evidence and the Russian propaganda, that they intend to have another series of nuclear tests regardless of whether we test or not. They weathered the adverse world opinion last fall with barely a shrug.

Some scientists do not think there will continue to be one after another series of tests until the atmosphere is so clogged with fall-out that blowing up the world is immaterial. Hans Bethe, who headed a panel of 20 scientists analyzing the Soviet blasts, said that "we already know so much about atomic weapons that there is very little more to learn . . . There are a few tests that make sense for us, but I do not believe that nuclear testing is the endless frontier that some people seem to see in it." The present series then does not seem to bring the world any closer to holocaust.

Our present tests are essential, in the opinion of our top military advisors, to keep us in a position to defend ourselves. The only real future for a halt in the tension and possibility that the world may be blown to bits must come from a treaty with adequate inspection and control and one that is incurred in by the major powers. This last and most important requirement often is overlooked by those who insist that peace and freedom can be achieved if we simply throw away our weapons.

It is essential but it never will be enough that we are able to detect breaches of a nuclear agreement. The Soviet Union has broken dozens of agreements since the end of World War II and the whole world knows about it. But for a treaty to be effective, both parties must intend that it be kept—or there must be a means of enforcing it.

Until the Russians as well as Americans finally see advantages to themselves from a disarmament plan, either in the positive sense of security or the negative sense of avoiding almost certain destruction, negotiations will continue to be fruitless harangues.

one day clinics will be held at district patrol headquarters to prepare the men for this additional task. They will be instructed in detailed guiding of visitors and will be supplied with information on accommodations and points of interest in the area served. As L. E. Beier, director of the Enforcement Division and State Patrol, put it, "It is hoped that the image of a welcome hand of all-Wisconsin will be implanted in increased number of visitors' minds."

Perhaps the mere fact that such usually divergent interests as Gov. Nelson's office and the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce can get together to cooperate in this undertaking is a good indication that the welcome comes from all of Wisconsin.

Goldwater's Chances Look Good In Southern Editor's Opinion

From Columbus, S.C. Record

Mr. Conservative himself, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, came to town today to talk to his South Carolina friends of the Republican Party. Loyal devotees of Mr. Goldwater, these friends would like to discontinue his service to the state of Arizona. They'd like him to move to the White House in 1964. And they've felt this way for a long time.

Carolínians of all political persuasion will remember watching the 1960 Republican convention on television, when a determined group of Palmetto State delegates insisted on nominating their champion for the Presidency. They recall the South Carolina banner being joined by placards from South and East, Midwest and Southwest and Far West — Oregon and Nevada and North Dakota and Texas and Kansas and Arizona.

They recollect the smiles and the pride of Mrs. Goldwater the senator's daughter on television. . . turning to tears as the senator withdrew.

Since that time, Sen. Goldwater has gained amazing strength over the entire nation and has held the admiration of his early adherents, the South Carolínians. Month after month, liberals of the United States have waited for the Goldwater bubble to burst. It hasn't. Nor does it show any signs of weakening from their punctures.

On the contrary, the latest Gallup poll among Republicans shows the senator gaining. In October 1961, Republicans favored Gov. Rockefeller over the senator by 51 to 33 per cent. Today, it's practically a dead heat — 45 per cent for the New York executive, 44 for Goldwater.

Those within and without the GOP who are continuously astounded by the senator's popularity sound an old refrain: "He a grand guy, but he can't be elected President." The majority of this criticism still emanates from the industrial Northeast. Are these detractors being very provincial, not looking beyond their own state borders and their region?

Goldwaterites answer affirmatively and assert that their candidate can be elected, and without the help of the liberal Northeast.

Here's how they figure a Goldwater victory in 1964: capture most of the South, Southwest and Midwest and pick up sufficient votes from doubtful states to go over the top.

Their strategy counts on Mr. Conservative taking Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont and Virginia.

They concede the following to President Kennedy: Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and West Virginia.

Listed as doubtful, from which Goldwater would be expected to earn sufficient votes for victory, are Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, California, Delaware, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Washington and Wisconsin.

Sen. Goldwater may never be given the opportunity to prove the thesis of his followers, but he might. Although it is fashionable (and perhaps correct) to concede the 1964 election to President Kennedy, it is also certain that a shock wave will ripple across the United States if this nation has another Cuba.

Responsible and intelligent observers of the international scene believe that the President will abandon West Berlin, with as much face-saving grace as possible, whenever Khrushchev decides on a big push.

If this occurs, West Berlin — coupled with Cuba — could defeat Mr. Kennedy and deliver the White House in 1964 to a Republican, who could be Mr. Goldwater. He believes in victory.

Looking Backward

Scandal in War Department

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 3, 1862.

A startling exposition of the management of the War Department under ex-Secretary Cameron and Assistant Secretary Scott is furnished by the Executive Department, No. 67, recently printed by the House of Representatives.

It appears that these two functionaries were busily engaged during last summer and fall making contracts for muskets and other small arms until the aggregate of their operations summed up 1,976,240 muskets, rifles and carbines, 72,440 pistols and 142,500 swords, for which they obliged the treasury to pay the trifling amount of $46,144,651.

The arms were to be delivered according to the convenience of the contractors, at almost any time along in the next two years, the delivery of hundreds of thousands of them being accordingly disposed over periods extending from July, 1862, to December, 1863!

While the public will be astounded at the vast magnitude and wild improvidence of these operations, there are other attending circumstances that will leave them hardly less amazed.

Whether we consider prices exorbitant as agreed upon, or the apparent privacy of the bidders, or the considerable favoritism to defaulting and bogus contractors, or the miserable inferiority of arms procured, or the character of the contractors (who were in large part neither manufacturers nor dealers of any kind in arms) or the impolicy of the department in bringing into the field so many bidders to compete with itself in the markets of Europe — all show a reckless system of extravagance and jobbing, a want of foresight and administrative ability shocking to the instincts of every honest citizen and well trained business man.

Council of Safety Gets Into Politics

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The Wisconsin Council of Safety, adopting the methods of some of the more sophisticated political lobbies, has asked in an open letter that the men who aspire to the high and powerful office of governor declare how they stand on the issues of public safety and notably the accident problem on Wisconsin highways.

It is not quite clear what the Council believes it can accomplish through such a public challenge, except to draw from the aspirants the routine declarations that they favor highway safety, as they approve motherhood and good crops, an early spring and a late fall.

The real question is what the men holding high office in this state propose to do about it. On that score there will be a vast silence.

Philip Kuehn, the Republican gubernatorial hopeful who was the first to respond to the request for a position on safety, says he would bear down more severely on drunks and speeders. Fine. But how? There are laws against driving while drunk, and there are speed laws. They carry penalties. What else would he do?

THE ISSUES

There is the patent fact that Wisconsin has not yet been able to develop a unified and thoroughly efficient system of patrolling its highways. There are visible political reasons for that failure. Politicians see them more clearly than anyone. But they are marvelously reticent when it comes to discussing them.

There are many other propositions that reasonable men may feel bear upon the general problem of highway accidents — compulsory motor vehicle inspection, more severe point-value schedules in the driver penalty regulation, less liberal granting of occupational driving permits for suspended drivers, among others.

But they are controversial and the politician will shy away from them precisely because they are controversial. What the Council of Safety will gain from its public challenge, therefore, is hard to perceive. It may get a boost for some of the incidental proposals heard lately that suggest the institutional interests of the professional safety promoter, such as the idea of setting up an elaborate research center on the University of Wisconsin campus, but they are scarcely relevant to the hard question of achieving better driving habits on the part of the general public and reducing the awful toll of lives and property.

SUGGESTION

From this seat in the bleachers it appears that the safety experts and the politicians are avoiding the issue. The first problem should be to apprehend and punish illegal drivers, those who violate the speed laws, and especially those who mix drinking with auto travel.

That requires better enforcement and almost surely more patrol manpower, on the one hand, and a less sentimental system of penalties, on the other. The occupational driving permit law is an obvious loophole in the revocation of license statute.

A friend from another state once related a story that may be relevant. He had taken a cocktail or two at a political rally, and then left his auto overnight in its stall while he called a taxi to take him to his hotel. When friends inquired about the reasons for such exemplary caution, he explained that he was accustomed to the penalties for driving under the influence in his home city. It had a mandatory ordinance for sentencing to the workhouse, and it had taught him never to take a chance.

The certainty of being apprehended, and the certainty of severe punishment, would do more for the cause of highway safety in Wisconsin than all of the safety promotions and elaborate researches the professionals in the field so ardently espouse. Candidates for governor and the legislature are equally convinced, it may be guessed. The question is how to get them to act, after they are elected.

State's Share Of 'I' System Mileage Hit

Truckers Group Backs Demands of Road Department

Post-Crescent Staff Bureau
MADISON — The principal organization of Wisconsin truckers has enthusiastically endorsed the demand of the state highway department for a larger allocation of mileage of the new U. S. Interstate highway system to Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Motor Carriers Assn. agreed that the mileage allocation to Wisconsin of the throughways is "rather skimpy". "Extensions of the 'I' system in southeastern areas, particularly in connection with the Milwaukee Expressway System and through the Fox River Valley area to Green Bay, deserve to be considered," the association said.

Bakke's Demand
The comment was on the recent public declaration of G. H. Bakke, secretary of the state commission, that Wisconsin should make a firm demand for a larger share of the I system which thus far has reserved only 453 miles to this state.

Echo Complaint
The truckers' information organ echoed the highway department's complaint that a 180 mile segment of a less deserving route in West Virginia was recently added to the certified Interstate system, while the Wisconsin requests were ignored.

The association also remarked that the 1961 legislature has made good the denial of the I system funds, in part, by authorizing the state highway department to build up 300 miles of the regular Wisconsin state highway system to freeway standards.

(The truckers association made no comment on the more recent complaint of Chairman Harvey Grasse of the state commission that the present state highway budget is inadequate for Wisconsin state trunk system construction needs and demands and that the time has come to increase state road user taxation to provide a more flexible state highway improvement budget.)

Noted Music Critic to Judge Appleton Pupils

Mrs. Madelon Baenziger Skonberg, faculty member of the Cosmopolitan School of Music, Chicago, and music critic for the "Musical Leader" will be in Appleton on today and Tuesday to judge the auditions of students taught by Sister M. Davinus at St. Mary School.

Mrs. Skonberg is listed in "Who's Who of American Women", second edition, and has examined students in many states from Washington, D. C. to Florida. Barbara Van Rooy and Christine Fourness, high school students, and 28 grade school pupils hope to receive awards and certificates in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians at the auditions.

James Hendricks and Barbara Milhaupt will seek national honors for the third consecutive year. Barbara VanRooy, Ann Peerenboom, Eileen Mauthe and Sarah O'Brien will seek national honors for the second time. Steven Kuhn, Mary Kenedy and Sue Ann Gatz will try for national honors for the first time.

Nine girls will seek state honors and 11 boys and girls will seek district honors.

Prospective Tourists Warned of Deadline

Decision Must be Made Before May 19 to Complete Arrangements.

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
If you are considering being among the travelers who will embark on a "Holiday In Europe" July 7, you had better arrange to make your application within the next few days.

Reservations for the 22-day trip to major cities in eight countries must be made no later than Saturday, May 19.

Officials of the tour say it will be necessary to have all applications on or before May 19 to make all necessary arrangements.

Persons of both sexes and all ages who have already confirmed their reservations have expressed many reasons for joining the tour. Not the least of these has been the anticipation of joining persons from their hometown or area with whom they can share the many thrilling sights and keen pleasures in store for them. Many have expressed the enjoyment of accompanying persons from the area with whom they expect to make lasting friendships and be able to share memories of the trip for years to come.

Others have had the trip recommended to them by those who took advantage of the 1960 Post-Crescent tour. They have been told about the convenience of having all travel and accommodation arrangements made for them so that they could concentrate on the sheer enjoyment of the voyage from beginning to end.

Mary Ebben Travel, Inc., Appleton, is handling all arrangements for the tour. With the cooperation of Bennett Tours, Inc., Milwaukee, and Scandinavian Airlines System, the Travel Agency has worked hard to provide a trip that will offer the utmost in pleasure for those who come aboard July 7.

Toastmasters Celebration Set

Wisconsin's official "Toastmasters Week" will reach a climax in Eau Claire May 5 and 6 at the annual District 35 convention, according to District Governor Gordon Groseth, Chippewa Falls. Governor Gaylord Nelson has proclaimed the week of April 29 to May 5 as "Toastmasters Week" in Wisconsin in honor of the 20th anniversary of the first club in the state.

The first official Toastmaster Charter in Wisconsin was granted to the Eau Claire club in 1942. The district includes all of Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and part of Ontario, Canada. Nearly 400 persons are expected to attend the convention.

Appleton High School Pupils Find Art Has Many Forms to Display

Art can be a droll funny face or a discouraged beggar. It can be a loving portrait or hand-crafted bookends. It can be oil, copper, wire, wood or yarn. It is all this and more in the sixth annual spring art exhibit at Appleton High School.

The show, open to the public during the school day, will complete a three-week run at the end of this week. It includes about 225 pieces of work, of various types and in varied materials.

The pieces were selected for the show by the two art teachers, Harold Carlson and Richard M. Richardson, and four students. The show is broadly representative of the work of the department, with at least one piece by each of the 170 students in the department included.

Something to See
The exhibit includes oil, wax and watercolor paintings, ink and pencil drawings, sculpture in wood, wire, paper, and ceramics, needlework, linoleum and wood cuts, textiles, jewelry and other metal items.

To a mere spectator in the world of art, it is a delight to wander through the exhibit and see the ingenuity and variety of subjects, design and uses of material displayed by the young artists.

There is "Explosion in a Paper Factory," an abstract metal sculpture by Peter Kloeppel, and a cheerful curly poodle in paper sculpture by Molly Beall. There is "The Knight," worked in copper enamel with skillful handling of color by Pat Hopfensperger and the droll ceramic sculptured "Funny Face" by Bonita Weiss. There's a nature collage by Barbara Toohey, a handsome wall plaque with gilded cat-tails and rushes; "City Scape," an imaginative oil painting by Carole Ruth, and a tired "Beggars" in ink and watercolor by Gary Gurnee.

There's an array of sophisticated and gay cats, including a smug wooden cat on a wall plaque by Jean Felton, and the rakish "Cat from Memphis," worked in bright yarns on a wall plaque by Becky Bates.

No Limit
Art is by no means limited to oils, watercolors and ink drawings, although the show features many of these. It can also be found in a pair of leather sandals, in copper bowls, pewter, glass and ceramics, in a check-board in contrasting woods, in original copper and silver pins. It's in a needlework border designed for a dress by Mary Pinsee, in a bright flower pattern printed on draperies by Taki Sakai, and in the unusual background and entry designed for the show by the students.

The many forms and materials of art are thoroughly covered in the high school art department. Students can take three years of art and also a course in aesthetics.

Survey Course
The first year course is a survey course, covering many areas of art forms and design problems. The junior year emphasizes crafts, an area only recently added to high school art classes, and design and composition in watercolors and oils. Senior students work mainly on individual research in areas of special interest to them.

Carlson is in his first year as head of the high school art department, after teaching art for eight years at Wilson Junior High School.

"I like to say I don't teach art," he said, "but rather present problems that will stimulate creative handling of materials. Sometimes they come up with something unique."

The results are well worth a visit.

Chinese Reds Have Growing Drive Against Khrushchev

Russian Premier Discredited as 'Revisionist,' Attack Not Yet Open

BY ALBERT RAVENHOLT
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

HONG KONG — Red China's 17,000,000 - member Communist Party is engaged in a growing campaign to discredit Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as a "revisionist" who has forsaken the Marxist-Leninist faith.

Chinese Red leaders have not yet brought the attack openly into their controlled press and such theoretical magazines as are available here.

But at some meetings party members have been told that in time the Russian people will rise up and throw out Khrushchev and his comrades, who are guilty of betraying communism.

At most meetings on which reports are available, such charges have been presented as the personal views of party members. However, the fact that these discussions began almost simultaneously last October and November throughout widely separate regions of Red China, and have continued since, indicates that they must have been inspired by the highest Chinese Red authorities in Peiping.

Should this discrediting of Khrushchev within the world's largest Communist Party now continue, it would mean that the fine phrases of renewed amity recently expressed in Peiping and Moscow are window dressing. And the competitive ideological split between the Chinese and Russian comrades, now in its third year, is becoming a fierce contest for inner party discipline and the retention of power by existing leaders.

For the Communist world, it could mean a development comparable to the reformation which shook Christendom four centuries ago.

Both the democratic peoples of the West and the emerging nations of Asia and Africa will inevitably be affected, since much of this dispute concerns Communist designs for extending their revolutionary political crusade.

The deliberations of the senior Communist Party leaders who rule Red China are shrouded in secrecy until they choose to reveal them. But the attacks against Khrushchev and his closest Russian associates have now become so extensive within the Chinese Communist party that they are a fairly common topic of conversation among the lower ranking party officials and non-party Chinese intellectuals.

There is little suggestion that Chinese Communists really are trying to conceal their internal denunciation of the present Russian leadership.

And the new wave of refugees fleeing from the mainland bring reports from different provinces indicating this must be a national campaign.

Khrushchev Charged

Khrushchev is taken to task on a wide range of charges. Personally he is accused of being an "opportunist" who associated with Joseph Stalin while he was alive and who only dares to attack the Russian dictator posthumously.

Khrushchev also is criticized for his treatment of V. M. Molotov and other Soviet leaders whom he has eased out of key positions.

As a "revisionist," Khrushchev is condemned by the Chinese for opposing their policy of continuing the revolution and its hazards of sparking global war.

This may be traced to a Chinese Communist conviction that they exercise much greater influence in the Communist movements in Latin America and in the new African and Asian countries as contrasted with Russia's dominance in the councils of the Communist bloc states.

Also it may betray Peiping's doubts about its capacity to match the Soviet Union in "peaceful competition" with the capitalist and democratic West.

Similar Communist reasoning may account for the Chinese opposition to atomic control and disarmament while they remain a non-nuclear power.

Internally it appears that the Chinese Reds are trying to blame Khrushchev and Russian failure to ship them more food for the present near-starvation conditions on the mainland.

There are reports that Chinese Party members are now airing charges that the Russians insisted upon high prices, to be paid in grain and other agricultural commodities, for the arms supplied to their "volunteers" in the Korean War.

The withdrawal of most Soviet technicians from China and curtailment of Russian help for China's industrialization also are being criticized.

The fact that such dirty Communist lines now is being washed more or less openly in China generates some ideological questions also for Chinese leaders. Chinese Party cadres are reported discussing among themselves now the realization that Communism is not a single universal formula that can be applied in time everywhere.

Instead, Chinese Communist Party chairman Mao Tze-Tung is being championed as the true heir of Lenin. Chinese Reds argue that he has thought out and developed a far more effective technique for spreading revolution today.

Difficult to Reverse

Should the denunciation of Khrushchev within the ranks of the Chinese Communist Party continue much longer it could become a process difficult to reverse. For the tortured dialectics of Communism have a way of imprisoning their creators.

In such a setting the Sino-Soviet trade agreement recently renewed in Peiping would appear more as a stopgap measure while rival Chinese and Russian leaders sort out their positions for a tougher

Young Business Man: YOUR CARRIER

Post-Crescent newscarrier Bill Etten is thankful to the United States Air Force for two things: one, the pride he has because his father, Herbert Etten, is a member of the Air Force; two, this circumstance has provided Bill with the opportunity for extensive travel including a trip to Japan.

Bill lives at 630 E. Harding St., Appleton, conducts his business of delivering the Post-Crescent along 400 to 700 E. Wilson, 400 to 600 Taft, 2400 Jackson, 2500 Jefferson, 400 Hoover, 2400 Lowe, and 600 to 700 Roland street. The efficiency of Bill's work and the responsible attitude he maintains is attested to by the fact that he has added nine new customers to his list since January.

When not on a trip, enjoying a sports event, fishing, camping or on his daily newspaper route, Bill ekes out some time to take care of his fine stamp collection.

This young businessman is saving his earnings, too, to help provide a future education.

UW Agriculture Experimenter to Retire July 1

Noble Clark, associate director of the University of Wisconsin agricultural experiment station since 1938, will retire from the university staff July 1.

Clark, who was deputy director of the United Nation's Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) immediately after World War II, is an internationally known authority in food production and land use.

He joined the Wisconsin staff in 1927 as assistant to Dean Harry

L. Russell. From 1930 to 1938, he was assistant director of the Wisconsin Experiment Station. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a B.S. degree.

Clark attended graduate school at Northwestern University and the University of Minnesota, and completed his M.S. degree in 1930 after his return to Wisconsin.

Land Tenure Throughout his career Clark has been concerned with problems of land tenure or ownership and food production. An early land tenure assignment was his post as regional director of the Land Policy Section of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in 1934.

In 1943 he was appointed chairman of the Committee on Postwar Agricultural policy created by the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities. In 1947, Clark headed a five-nation mission which surveyed agricultural production in Poland for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

He was a member of the President's Commission on Migratory Labor in 1950-51. In 1956 he conducted a survey of agricultural publications distribution in Asia for the U. S. Departments of State and Agriculture.

Less Stuffiness, Fanfare

Future Summit Talks Need More Humanity

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Jet planes have taken some of the stuffiness out of summit meetings and President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan may try to humanize them a little more.

If they do there should be more summits, with the Russians but less of the fanfare which in the past made every summit look like the hinge of history while the world listened for each creaky sound.

The statement the two leaders issued after meeting here Sunday, like others in the past, was one of those typical topical things that touched a lot of bases but revealed practically nothing.

Interesting Point
Their most interesting point—not so much for what it said as for what it may mean in time to come—was on summit meetings.

Here they said “they reaffirmed their willingness to consider meetings of heads of government whenever there is an indication that such meetings would serve the interest of peace and understanding, and in this respect they took note of the opinion recently expressed by Chairman Khrushchev.”

Khrushchev had always been ready for a summit at the drop of a diplomatic pouch containing an invitation. In a recent interview with American publisher Gardner Cowles, he did a turn around.

In the past, while the West insisted any summit should be preceded by a meeting of foreign ministers to see if the two sides could agree on anything, Khrushchev brushed the ministers aside as a waste of time.

Messengers, he called them. He said only the top men could solve anything. But now Cowles said Khrushchev told him that perhaps it would be better for ministers to meet first.

The Kennedy-Macmillan statement didn't say they would sprint to a summit without preliminary spadework by the ministers, but it also didn't say they would insist on a ministers' meeting first.

They said they'd go if there was an indication it would do good.

Door Kept Open
“Indication” is a flexible diplomatic word, nicely adapted to keep the door open for Kennedy and Macmillan to go in or come out as they wish.

They could go directly to a summit, justifying it by saying there was some indication it was worthwhile. Or they could use it for the opposite reason.

The Kennedy-Macmillan get-together—their fifth since the President took office—was in a sense a summit but without any preliminary buildup as a world-shaker. They had some problems to discuss and they did.

Friendly Power
But Kennedy and Macmillan represented friendly powers. Their meetings have all been just friendly, casual summits. In the West, however, there is none of this relaxed approach to a summit with an antagonist, like Russia.

If a different attitude developed—that summits don't necessarily have to solve anything but could be useful in exchanging views—there would be more of them, perhaps with benefit to everyone.

More of them might make more sense than the present stiff and stuffy isolation of the world leaders from one another.

Sounding Off
A few words exchanged among Kennedy, Macmillan and Khrushchev in a room together could be more effective than for each of them, thousands of miles apart, to be continually sounding off.

The whole concept of summits is in an evolutionary phase. A hundred years ago, when travel was slow and a head of state might have to be away from government for weeks or months, a summit was a stupendous event.

Faster travel and the urgencies of World War II began to make summits—like those of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin—seem less awesome.

Faster Travel
As travel got even faster there seemed less reason—except for the dead hand of tradition—for not having more meetings between the top men, not only among friends but with antagonists, too.

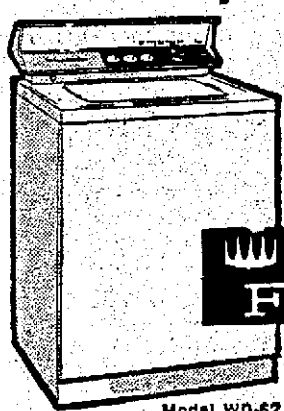

This may be what Kennedy and Macmillan had in mind Sunday although, by using the word “indication,” they didn't stick their necks all the way out.

The more frequent summit meetings become, the less enormous each would look until finally the world would stop expecting final solutions from meetings which had become a place to exchange ideas.

Michigan Senate Districts 2nd Reapportionment Case Heading to Court

BY CHARLES NICODEMUS
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Another reapportionment case that may have effects almost as important as those produced recently by the Tennessee case is now in court in Michigan and heading towards the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Michigan case, involving frozen senate districts and resulting discrimination against urban voters, is expected to be argued in less than a month before the Michigan Supreme Court.

Regardless of the outcome, both sides have said the decision will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Supreme Court Order

The Michigan Supreme Court, which had earlier refused to try the reapportionment case, was ordered to do so last week by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The directive came on the heels of the high court's historic Baker vs. Carr decision, in which it in effect ordered the state of Tennessee to reapportion its legislature.

The Michigan case, however, is a landmark itself because it deals with circumstances different from those in Tennessee, and raises equally fundamental questions.

At issue is a state's previously unchallenged right to organize its senatorial districts on the basis of geography alone if such a setup gives rural voters an unfairly large voice in state government.

In the Tennessee case, the rural-dominated legislature had failed to reapportion either of its houses since 1910, depriving urban voters of fair representation.

Not the noise, Berne lay moaning with a fractured vertebra.

Fabro was convicted Saturday of voluntary injury and sentenced to two years in jail.

Schofle contends that the particular type of geographic apportionment used discriminates against city and suburban voters, thus depriving them of their rights without "due process of law," as guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. So the Michigan apportionment is illegal, Schofle argues, regardless of whether or not it is constitutional in Michigan.

Schofle points out that he does not contest a state's right to apportion senate districts on a geographic basis, as is done in the federal senate and in numerous states.

But he contends that Michigan's apportionment, which follows county lines, is so "capricious" that in 1952 his own vote, cast in suburban Detroit's growing 12th District (population 530,000) carried only 1/4 the weight of a vote cast in the least populous 32nd (Upper Peninsula) District (population 61,000).

He said that ratio had worsened to 1 to 13 in 1960, and probably would be 1 to 25 by 1975.

Prosecutor Named For Salan's Trial

PARIS (AP)—French authorities announced Sunday that Andre Gavaldi, a government attorney in the appellate courts, will handle the prosecution against ex-Gen. Raoul Salan on charges of subversive activity. The trial is expected sometime late in May before a special tribunal.

writing Ways and Means Committee.

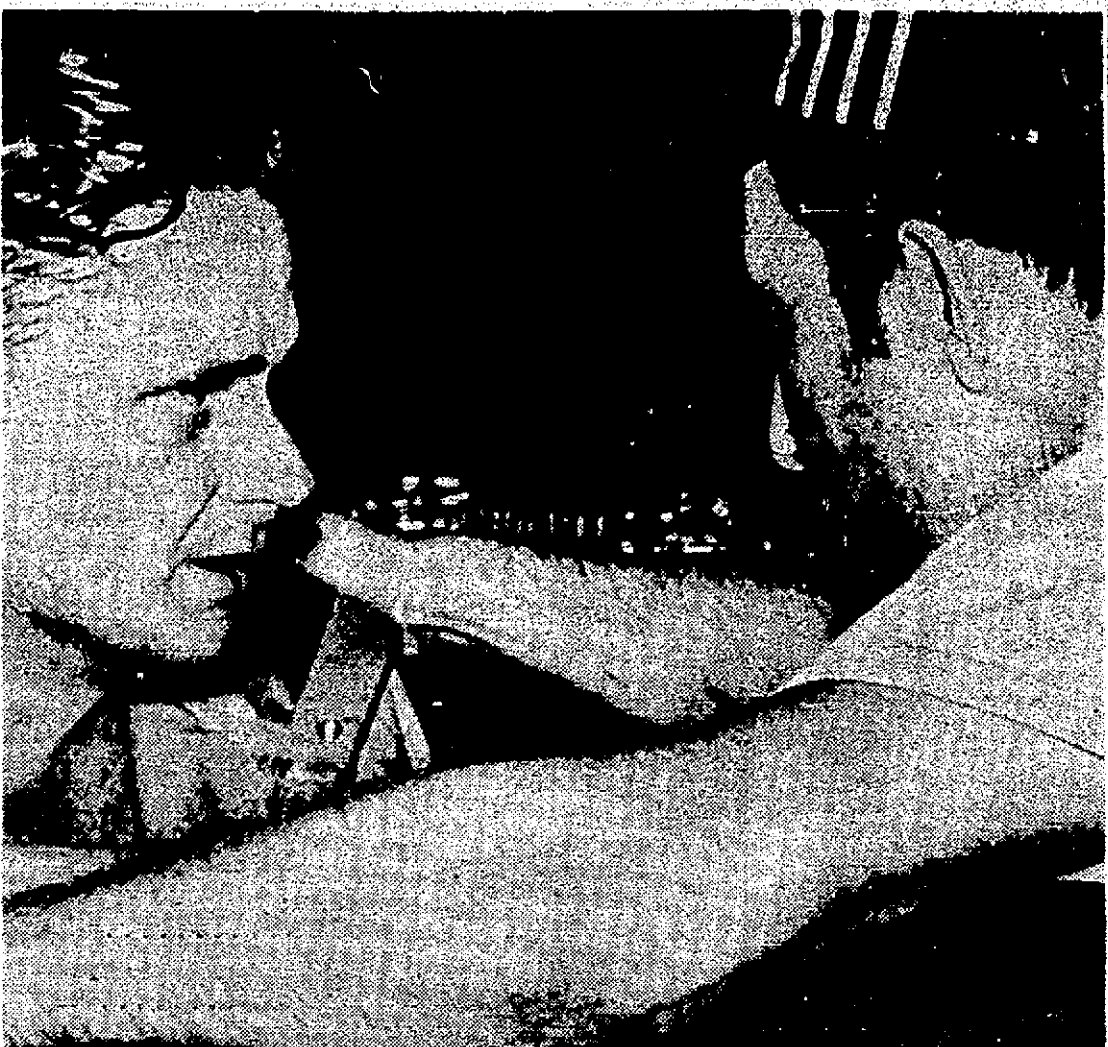

Byrnes, both in the Ways and Means Committee of which he is now top Republican leader and his success among house Republicans which led to his election as chairman of House Republican Policy Committee, to his energy, drive, incisive mind, articulate speech and truth warmth of spirit.

In his acceptance speech, Byrnes gave a great deal of credit to his family life and said that his father and mother trained their children to be self-reliant and God-fearing. He also said that today too many people look to the government for the solution to their problems instead of depending on their own initiative.

Byrnes' speech which was very short carried an underlying note of humility, warmth and humor.

Mrs. Byrnes and the three children, John Robert, 14, Michael, 13, and Bonnie Jean, 12, attended the dinner in honor of their father.

On the dinner committee were the Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Fraem, West De Pere; Harvey V. Higley, Marinette; John Kimbly, Neenah; Carl N. Jacobs, Stevens Point; John C. Whitney, Green Bay; Walter L. Rugland, Appleton; Neal Peck, Peshtigo, and Guido Rahr, Manitowish.

Three children drowned and three persons are still missing, including Henry's son, Danny Ray, 12. Manzella saw Henry clinging to a gasoline can about three hours later and pulled him to safety.

since when the country has become involved in crisis.

In a speech prepared for delivery just after President Kennedy's scheduled appearance on the same platform, Chamber President Richard Wagner defended the steel price increase which Kennedy forced steel firms to cancel 2 1/2 weeks ago.

Wagner, a Chicago oilman, deplored and denied the mistaken impression—which he said many people gained from the dramatic steel struggle—that inflationary pressures are fostered by industry's so-called greedy desire for profit.

Costs Rise Sharply

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Wagner told about 4,000 delegates at the opening session of the chamber's 50th annual meeting. "Steel had already been subjected to three increases in wage costs as well as increases in other costs without an increase in price."

The chamber president declared that some of the constitutional checks and balances of the power of the executive have eroded with the years. He said further erosion could lead to "dictatorship or personal government."

Kennedy's speech to the nation's biggest business organization was his first appearance before a business audience since he forced the country's major steel producers to withdraw their $6 a ton price increase.

The address was awaited with vast curiosity by the chamber delegates, although Kennedy had given assurance, at a news conference, that he harbored no ill will as a result of the steel price episode and that he hoped for fullest cooperation with both business and labor in achieving his economic goals for the country.

Wagner, chairman of the executive committee of Champlain Oil & Refining Co., told the delegates in his keynote address that business, in seeking to preserve the curbs on executive power, should not resort to name-calling, and should work closely with government in the many fields in which there are common interests.

Wagner told the delegates that "the two culprits, slowing down America's growth are first, high taxation accompanied by deficits because of excess spending, and second, wage increases at a rate that is in excess of gains in productivity."

One Man Imprisoned, Another Hospitalized Because of Snoring

TORTONA, Italy (AP) — Noisy-sleeping Umberto Berne snored his way into a hospital. Slumber-loving Giuseppe Fabro is in jail for two years as a result.

Last June they occupied neighboring beds in a poor man's hostel. Berne's mighty snoring shattered the nocturnal calm.

Fabro tried shaking him, but Berne snored all the more. Finally Fabro rolled the snorer out of bed and dumped a bucket of cold water on him.

'May Day' in Berlin Reveals Big Contrasts

Demonstrations Planned on Both Sides of Red Wall

Chicago Daily News Service

BERLIN — With the approach of May Day each year, Berlin becomes a city of even more striking contrasts than usual.

Traditionally in Europe May 1 is organized labor's holiday.

Here in Berlin the holiday has taken on a peculiar double quality, sharpened greatly by the building of the Communist Wall last summer.

In a vast square in East Berlin where once the Kaiser's palace stood, a Communist army, whose very presence in the city is illegal under four-power agreements, will parade its tanks and guns "for peace."

Militant Slogan

Then for additional hours thousands of citizens, many of them dragooned for the day, will march to military bands and the militant slogan of: "Fatherland, Peace, Communism — We Conquer."

While this is going on an expected 500,000 West Berliners will assemble in front of the old Reichstag building about a mile away and in the shadow of the wall.

Since the city's initial division by the Communists in 1948, this May Day rally has become the principal civic expression of the West Berliners' determination to remain free. Their slogan this year is: "Freedom Knows No Wall."

Emotions High

Emotions run high on both sides of the wall and the explosive possibilities in such a situation are plain.

Communist authorities call the Western demonstration a "provocation" and insist it should be removed from its traditional site to some more distant area.

With allied agreement, West Berlin officials felt they could not bow in this way to the Communist pressures, but elaborate pre-about 9:50 a.m. and blew out the fuse box.

A wire outside the Waupaca home of Mrs. Martha DeBarber was struck and the electrical system was damaged. A dining room fixture in a home at 2623 W. Highway Drive in the Town of Grand Chute was damaged in a lightning flash. Volunteer firemen checked the damage.

Planes Grounded

Planes were grounded part of Sunday at Green Bay, Appleton and Oshkosh airports because of fog that hung over the Fox River Valley.

The thunderstorm was one of a line that moved across the entire state after a weekend of cloudiness, drizzle and heavy fog.

At 8 a.m. today thunderstorms were reported at Wausau, Clintonville, Stevens Point, La Crosse and Rhinelander and light rain was falling at Eau Claire and Superior. Later in the morning a line of thunderstorms developed from Madison to the Green Bay area and moved rapidly eastward.

The weekend fog was heaviest in the Milwaukee, Green Bay and Wausau areas.

Temperatures early today ranged from 69 at Beloit to 37 at Superior and maximums on Sunday ranged from 32 at Superior to 53 at Beloit.

Laredo, Tex., hit the national high of 101 Sunday, compared with the low of 18 early today at Ely, Nev.

A severe thunderstorm and tornado forecast was issued today for extreme southern Wisconsin, parts of northern Illinois, extreme northern Indiana and the southern portion of lower Michigan.

It said scattered severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds and one or two tornadoes were expected until 6 p.m., CDT., in the area 60 miles either side of a line from Moline, Ill., to Flint, Mich.

Slim That Midriff

How trim is your abdomen? Unless it is flat and firm, today's message is for you!

Make up your mind now to slim down and tighten up. No other figure fault is quite so disfiguring as a pudgy, lax abdomen. It ages a woman by a good 10 years. In a teen it looks like what dotting mothers call "baby fat." Other people put it down, however, to overeating and poor posture. And they are right. Both habits cause the problem at any age.

There are four ways to overcome it: 1. Pull up in the abdomen when you sit and stand. Keep at it until the action becomes automatic.

2. Wear a girdle with a controlling front panel with everything you wear, even pants. It will assist your posture, effort, and, of course, it immediately improves appearances.

3. Perform this slimming exercise daily: Lie face down on floor,

Kaukauna High School Students Dance at "Garden of Dreams"

It was a "Garden of Dreams" for Kaukauna High School students and their guests when the Junior Class held its prom Friday evening at the school. Flowered archways and a wishing well added to the garden setting.

John Whitman reigned as prom king and Miss Joan Peebles was queen. The couple led the grand march, accompanied by their court, Keith Busse, Karen Jansen, Ricky Vander Velden, Ronald Skalmusky, William Weyenberg and Sharon Ashauer.

The Kaukauna Elks Club entertained partygoers at a post-prom party at the Elks Club. The event, held from midnight to 4 a.m. included dancing, lunch and refreshments.

Couples May Not Have dropped coins into the wishing well, but prom night is always an enchanted time for high school students, and wishes for the future are part of its charm. Above are Richard Brandt, Greenleaf, and Paula Koch, Kaukauna.

Rev. Kools Officiates at Wedding

Miss Mary Patricia Van Sambeek became the bride of Lester C. Plutz at 9 a.m. today. The Rev. Joseph Kools celebrated the nuptial high mass and performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Sambeek Sr., 1010 Jefferson Place, Kimberly. Mr. and Mrs. Lester N. Plutz, 924 W. Grant St., are the parents of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Van Sambeek, Darboy, the bride's brother and sister-in-law, were the couple's honor attendants. Guests were seated by Jerome Hartjes, Combined Locks.

A wedding dinner was served at 12:30 p.m. at the American Legion Club. A 2 to 4 p.m. reception will also take place there. The newlyweds plan to live in Newfoundland, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force.

The bride is a graduate of Kimberly High School and has been employed in the school office. Her husband is an Appleton High School graduate.

Appleton Art Students Win Certificates

Certificate of merit art pieces will be on display during the first Student Art Show Tuesday through May 24 at Reeve Memorial Union, Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh. The exhibit is sponsored by the Art Club and the Union Program committee.

Paintings, drawings and collages made by members of the Art Club during this year's classes are on exhibit.

Certificates of merit were awarded to Miss Nea Lee Nissen, Appleton, for an ink and tempera drawing; Miss Elaine Thalke, Appleton, a drawing; Miss Kathleen Hartkopf, Fond du Lac, a watercolor painting; Miss Susan Keilberg, Oshkosh, an oil painting; and Miss Gail Floether, Oshkosh, an ink drawing. Miss Hartkopf, president of the Art Club, and Steve Karges, Oshkosh, chairman of the Union Program committee, have charge of the exhibit.

'Genetics' Topic of AAUW Program

Dr. James F. Crow, professor of zoology and genetics and chairman of the Medical Genetics Department of the University of Wisconsin, will be guest speaker when the Appleton Branch of AAUW meets Wednesday at the Lawrence College-Worcester Art Center. He will discuss "Genetics and Man's Future" at the 8 p.m. event to which the public has been invited.

Dr. Crow

The speaker was born in Phenixville, Pa., and was graduated from Friends University, Wichita, Kan. He received his Ph.D. in 1941 from the University of Texas.

Dr. Crow has been a member of the University of Wisconsin Faculty since 1948. His major fields of study are genetics of the drosophila (fruit fly) and population genetics theory. He has studied the effects of inbreeding and the causes of hybrid vigor. His interest in the Pair Marks Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Huebner, Dale, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday noon with a dinner at Louie's Supper Club, and a 2 to 4 p.m. open house at St. Paul Lutheran Church. Mrs. Rose Mantefel, Maribel, and Leonard Palmbach, Appleton, attendants at the wedding, will be present. The couple was married May 8, 1912, at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Greenville. The Rev. F. A. Uppleger, former Greenville resident who is now engaged in missionary work in Arizona, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Huebner have six children, Mrs. Martin Joos, Appleton; Mrs. Carl Kalbus, Readfield; Mrs. Matt Schaffer, Hilbert; Mrs. Lenard Baehman, Gerald Huebner and Luther Huebner, Hortonville. They also have 25 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

St. Mary Catholic Church. The Rev. Raymond Zagorski officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schinke, 808 Weiland Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Penterman, route 1.

Mrs. Robert Paschke, Greenville, attended her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Charles Heenan, Miss Faith Heenan and Miss Marguerite Grishaber were bridesmaids.

Charles Heenan served as best man. The bridegroom's brother, Herman Penterman Jr., Jerold Heenan and James Heenan acted as groomsmen. Ushers were Donald Schinke, brother of the bride, and Joseph Penterman, Combined Locks, brother of the bridegroom.

A supper reception and dance was held at the Hortonville Community Hall.

The bride, a graduate of Appleton High School, is employed at the Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton. Her husband is employed by P&B Excavating, Inc., Appleton.

The couple will reside at 213 S. Douglas St.

Daughter's Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Mary Lee Mogenson and Roger M. Redman has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Elsie Mogenson and Curtis Mogenson, Tigerton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Redman, Split Rock.

The couple was graduated from Tigerton High School. Miss Mogenson is employed at Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton. Her fiancé has just returned from Army service.

No wedding date has been set.

Shawano Setting for Ceremony

St. James Lutheran Church, Shawano, was the setting at 3:30 p.m. Sunday for the marriage of Miss June Wenzel and Jerome M. Schultz. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. P. Buelow.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Wenzel, Shawano, and Mrs. Isaac Thompson, Leopolis, and the late Marvin Schultz.

Mrs. Wayne Kubitz, Green Bay, attended as her sister's matron of honor. The bride's cousin, Miss Ilene Baumann, Shawano, and Mrs. Lyle Engel, Shawano, were bridesmaids. Miss Judith Engel, niece of the bridegroom, was ministration bride.

Lyle Engel, Shawano, served as best man. Donald Meyer, Shawano, and Wayne Kubitz, Green Bay, acted as groomsmen. Ushering duties were shared by the bride's brother, Richard Wenzel, Shawano, and Richard Engel, Bonduel, cousin of the bridegroom. The bridegroom's cousin, Jeffrey Engel, was ring bearer.

A dinner was served at the church. A reception and dance were held at the Caroline Ballroom, Caroline.

The bride is a graduate of Shawano High School. Her husband, a graduate of Marion High School, is engaged in farming.

Mr. and Mrs. Schultz will reside in Leopolis.

Miss Joan Peebles and John Whitman were queen and king of the Kaukauna Junior Prom Friday evening. They are shown above in an archway of flowers that carried out the theme of "Garden of Dreams." At right are Miss Joan Delcore and Lynn Moss. Couples went on to a post-prom party at the Elks Club after the prom ended.

Parents Tell Engagement Of Daughter

The engagement of Miss Lois Boree and Melvin Lendt has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boree, route 3, Kaukauna.

Miss Boree was graduated from Fox Valley Lutheran High School and attended Dr. Martin Luther College, New Ulm, Minn. She is

Sheinwold Finesse at Right Time

Don't put your trust in the copybook virtues. "Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today," you were taught, but this advice won't help you at the bridge table.

Back comes a heart, and you take the finesse at this time. (Since you're not a mind reader you don't play the king of hearts from dummy.) The finesse loses, but East cannot return a heart. This is the advantage of postponing the finesse; if you lose the trick, you may be able to keep your other stopper in the suit. No matter what East returns you can win and knock out West's other ace. Dummy still has the king of hearts, and you win ten tricks instead of only eight.

Opening Day Luncheon Held At BDM Club

The women of Butte des Morts Golf Club held their opening spring luncheon Wednesday at the club. Club president John Barlow told the members of improved kitchen facilities and announced that the club will now be open daily for 11 months of the year.

Guest golfing privileges have been restated so that at least one of each foursome must be a club member. Tee-off from 4 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays will be limited to members of the Twilight League. A change in the Junior Girl Association Membership fee was also announced.

Andrew Wargo, club manager, explained plans for the addition to the East Lounge. The construction will be completed in September. Everett Leonard, beginning his 27th year as club pro, was introduced.

Mrs. Robert Chase, chairman of Junior Golf Events, stated that the children's golfing program will begin June 12.

Garden Safeguard

Even veteran gardeners are not immune to the occasional scratch of the rose bush or the muscle aches from planting and cultivating. Insect bites and stings are also a natural hazard of gardening. A cotton pad, soaked in witch hazel and held to the affected area, will promote healing.

Cheese Dressing

The Roquefort cheese salad dressing often served in restaurants is made from mayonnaise and French dressing plus the cheese. Try this combination for a professional tasting dressing!

Restraint Fine, but After Seven Months Boyfriend Needs Help

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Most girls who write to you want to know how to keep the boys "in line." Well, if my boy friend doesn't get out of line pretty soon—at least enough to give me a goodnight kiss I may have to stop seeing him.

I have been dating L. B. for

seven months. We are both in our middle 20s and college graduates. We share the same cultural interests, the same religion, and we enjoy each other's company tremendously. Everything is perfect except he has not even held my hand.

For the first several weeks I was pleased with his restraint. Then something happened which made me uneasy. In church last Sunday L. B. was holding both prayer books. I reached over to get my book and my hand accidentally touched his. He must have thought I was trying to hold hands with him. He jumped six inches. The prayer books went kerplop on the floor and everyone turned to look at us.

What's with this guy anyhow? Help me, Please.—Can't Get a Pulse

Dear Can't: It's L. B. who needs help, not you. A man in his middle 20s who dates a girl for seven months and jumps at the touch of her hand is no red-hot candidate for marriage.

If the relationship hasn't produced ample voltage to spark a goodnight kiss after all these months of courtship, tell him goodbye—and point him in the direction of a psychiatrist.

DEAR ANN: I'm a 17-year-old high school boy. My parents are in good shape financially. They both work and we have no big money worries. I've had odd jobs after school and on Saturdays since I was 13. I have painted, scrubbed, mowed, shoveled, sat—almost everything you can think of. The money I earned bought my clothes, school supplies, gifts, and I always saved something. I was never given an allowance.

Now I make $56 a week at a 20-hour job. My aunt and uncle have invited me on a three-week trip with them in June. My share of the expenses will be $50. My dad says if I'm away from my job for three weeks I must figure in the loss of salary which will be another $168. He says $218 is too much to spend on a vacation.

I want to go very badly. All this talk about money is making me nervous. Should I go?—Dan

Dear Dan: You sound like a hard-working, responsible guy who deserves a vacation. Go and have a good time.

Money for money's sake means nothing. If you can't enjoy the fruits of your labor, life is no fun at all, son.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter-in-law has redecorated her home at considerable expense. In a formal living room she has placed framed pictures of her family on end tables and other pieces of furniture. These pictures seem out of place and detract from the appearance of an otherwise lovely room.

Since I'm only a mother-in-law I'm not supposed to have any opinions—or at least so I gather from reading your column for several years. Or have I gotten the wrong impression?—Baltimore Lady

Dear Lady Baltimore: Of course a mother-in-law can have opinions. But if she's wise she'll keep them to herself unless she's asked.

Using Reproductions

Proud ownership of a few pieces of antique furniture often brings up questions about reproductions of antiques. Is it better to combine antiques with modern furniture than with furniture that looks old, but isn't? How successfully can reproductions of antiques be used with the real thing?

Best answers depend on the quality of the reproductions. Fine antiques are bound to show up misguided imitations. Far better than graceless copies is furniture that's good of today's kind—it is more worthwhile to own, and often creates contrast that's very flattering to antiques. But furniture that handsomely preserves the character of fine old pieces is well-mannered in the company of its elders, and may provide exactly what the room needs when available true antiques cannot. The chairs sketched, for example, might continue with great success the dining room style that a cherished antique table or cabinet began. Delicate detailing inherited from mid-18th Century ancestors makes them worthy of the antiques, and equally authentic proportions give them seating comfort few old or new dining chairs surpass. The chairs and the graceful huntboard shown with them belong to a new collection which derives from 18th Century American-owned antiques, some still in use.

Mrs. D.B.: "May I have your opinion of a black and white bedroom scheme? I saw one with the walls, curtains, furniture and rugs in white, the bedspread in black with white pillow shams, crystal lamps and dresser accessories and black and white wall decorations. My plan would change the curtains to white with a black figure, and the rug to black and white tweed, and I must use my gray furniture, which includes the bed, both a double and a single dresser, and two nightstands. Will the gray furniture fit in or should I try another scheme idea?"

The effect of black mixed into the curtains and rug and so much gray furniture will be quite different from the effect of the original scheme, where the black spread was completely surrounded by white, except for what black there was in wall decorations. One is decidedly clear cut, and the other is much less so. You might like the scheme as you plan it, but make sure that you are visualizing it, not the scheme you saw, before deciding to use it. How the particular shade of gray looks against white must be considered since much room area is covered by the two dressers against the walls.

Mrs. V. B.: "I've been told that cafe curtains shouldn't be used with Venetian blinds. But I'd like to make some for our family room windows. If you don't disapprove, will you tell me what cafe style will look best with the blinds?"

Curtains of sheer fabrics hung on very slender rods look inappropriately frail with Venetian blinds. Make the curtains of substantial, but not necessarily heavy fabric and hang them on fairly heavy rods.

The First Officers of the Chalice Circle of The King's Daughters discussed plans for the newly-organized group before the initiation of members and installation of officers Tuesday evening. Above

Miss Elaine Moder, Hortonville, received the book award. Mrs. Percy Braatz, Shiocton, scholarship chairman, presented the awards.

Mrs. Harold Ort, Black Creek, was introduced as the newly elected president of the Homemakers. Mrs. Paul Winterfeldt, Shiocton, will serve as vice president.

Chairmen Named
Mrs. Henry Blumer will serve as chairman of the Appleton Club. Mrs. Sherman Klein is vice chairman. The Dale club will be led by Mrs. Louis Lathrop, chairman, and Mrs. Leonard Timm, vice chairman. Chairman of the Little Chute Club will be Mrs. John Jansen and vice chairman, Mrs. Peter Langedyke.

Mrs. Danford Bubolz, Appleton, was announced as the winner of the essay contest. Mrs. Robert Sasse, Medina, was second and Mrs. Peter Mischler, Kaukauna, third.

State Leader
Speaker for the evening was Miss Anita Gundlach, Madison, district state leader. A slide-lecture on the National Home Demonstration Council Meeting at Orono, Me., was presented by Mrs. Henry D. Schaefer.

A certificate of merit was awarded the homemaker chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Leo Waffie. Pins of merit were awarded for 25 years of membership in the Homemakers Club.

Mrs. Ort was chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Helmke, Mrs. Howard Judy, Mrs. Harold Schmeichel, Mrs. Marvin Schroeder, Mrs. Francis Coonen, Mrs. Alvin Wendt and Mrs. Schaefer.

Life of Service Donated By Non-Ugly American

Mrs. Welthy Honsinger Fisher was 72 and already had several careers behind her when she founded Literacy Village in Lucknow, India, in 1953, to train Indian teachers to go out into the villages of India and teach people to read.

With no money, no school, no ready teaching techniques or suitable books, but with boundless energy and faith and a lifetime's experience of tackling the impossible, Mrs. Fisher began to realize her goal of abolishing illiteracy in India.

Within eight years she has sent out over 5,000 teachers who have taught over a million and a half people. She has written and published primers suitable for adult use and perfected a method by which an adult can be taught to read simply within five months. She has raised money with the help of grants from foundations, from the donations of private people and with the help of World Education Inc., of which she is the President.

Non-Ugly American
Mrs. Fisher's work has been widely recognized. On her eightieth birthday, she received messages from Nehru, the Dalai Lama, the then Senator Kennedy, Nixon and Chester Bowles among others. Eugene Burdick and William J. Lederer, authors of "The Ugly American," chose Mrs. Fisher as one of their four non-ugly Americans.

Mrs. Fisher recalls her crowded and adventurous life and varied careers on three continents in her autobiography, "To Light a Candle."

"Sometimes it seems to me as if I have had true reincarnations within one long lifetime," she writes.

York when one night she attended a Methodist missionary meeting. Within a year she was on her way to China to become, at the age of 26, headmistress of a school for Chinese girls in Nanchang. She knew no Chinese and her pupils knew no English. But Mrs. Fisher has always thrived on difficulties. She learned the language and learned to cope with equal ease with a pupil who was spreading revolutionary propaganda throughout the province for Sun Yat-sen; with parents who threatened to commit suicide on the school grounds; and with a fire that temporarily destroyed the school. She made a host of friends of all kinds, adopted several children and gained as much from the Chinese as she gave them.

Expanded Heritage
"I suppose I am as American as pumpkin pie or the Fourth of July," she writes, "but I have never felt that one splendid heritage should keep anyone from expanding to include another."

She returned to America in 1917 after she felt her work was completed and she had trained a Chinese headmistress to take her place. The next few years she spent lecturing, writing and editing on behalf of missionary organizations.

She met and married Fred Bohn Fisher, Methodist Bishop of India and Burma, and began a new life with him in India. He was as full of energy and devotion as she was. Together they worked in India, until he became convinced that the Methodist effort there could be furthered better by the Indians themselves, and he resigned. The host of friends of all backgrounds and castes they left behind included Tagore and Gandhi, who said of Fred Fisher: "He seemed to be one of the few Christians who worked in the fear of the Lord, and therefore feared no man."

The Fishers worked in a series of challenging parishes until in 1938, Fred Fisher died of a heart attack. For fourteen years his widow tried to fill the gap in her life by traveling, and raising funds for pet projects, before she found her new life's work in India.

Mrs. Fisher has always believed that what is wrong should be put right, and that ignorance, prejudice and squalor are wrong. She respects the religions of others, admires the eastern philosophies, fights for the outward and visible signs of racial brotherhood, and believes that you reap what you sow.

"Whatever I have contributed toward these things in which I believe, I've learned more than I taught and gained more than I've given. I've had a whopping good time too, traveled all over the globe . . . and played my small part in many a drama."

Mrs. Fisher's royalties from her autobiography are all going to World Education Inc. to further the work of Literacy Village.

Bleach Can Cut Stain On China

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: My problem is: the brown stain found on the antique china dishes. My grandmother's tea set, for instance, is badly discolored. Have you any suggestions for removing these stains?

A: Many antique dealers, to remove dark discolorations of this type, frequently soak the dishes in a chlorine bleach solution.

Q: More than a year ago we put up all aluminum clothes lines outside. They have lived up to the manufacturer's statement by not sagging, but it is impossible to completely remove black marks that mark each edge of the clothes, not only under each clothes pin, but when the wind blows the wet clothes into the line itself. Have used a damp cloth with yellow bar soap rubbed on, as directions said, but it does not help. What would you suggest?

A: Wash aluminum line to remove all trace of cleaner. Then apply two coats of good quality spar varnish to entirely coat the metal surface. This will require periodic renewal.

Cabinet Doors
Q: My house is 7 years old, custom-made throughout. My knotty pine kitchen has built-in cabinets with doors made of one or two wide boards. Each year, about December, the doors spring and curve out, then in April they start returning back to normal (treached by the last of May). Right now only about three in 14 will close, the others are ajar about one to two inches. What is the cause and what can I do to correct the trouble?

A: Doors warp because of moisture absorption into the wood fibers, causing them to expand. Your kitchen, during the winter season, apparently, has inadequate ventilation and air circulation; the usual, normal high humidity from cooking vapors is not carried off to the outdoors; instead an exhaust fan, vented

Painting of Furniture For Outdoors

New Beauty Can Be Applied Without Too Much Trouble

When outdoor furniture isn't baking in the sun or drowning in the rain, it's retired to several months of damp storage. No wonder it looks drab and dingy after a few seasons and desperately needs the beauty and protection provided by a quick coat of durable, quality enamel.

These tough exterior enamels, available in numerous colors, will perk up the saddest looking wood, iron, wicker or aluminum furniture. You'll find that aluminum furniture which has long since lost its sheen gains a handsome new look with a coat of enamel. If you want to keep the natural finish of wood furniture, there are clear exterior varnishes to enhance and protect the wood.

Preparation is very important. First scrub thoroughly, removing dust, dirt and oil with mineral spirits or odorless paint thinner. On previously painted surfaces, sand away any blistered or loose paint. Then roughen glossy areas with sandpaper to provide "tooth" for the new enamel.

On wooden furniture, cracks and rough spots should be sanded smooth. Holes should be filled with a good commercial filler. Use Sandpaper

On metal furniture, as well as metal fittings on wooden furniture, rust must be thoroughly removed. Use steel wool or sandpaper.

When selecting your enamel or varnish, be sure to specify a quality product made by a reputable manufacturer. The finish must be able to take a beating from the elements and yet look bright and fresh for a reasonable number of seasons. Only a quality, non-fading finish, in addition to easy application and proper coverage.

Colorwise, remember that blues, blue-greens, blue-lilacs and blue-grays are cooling. The warmer yellows and pinks are cheerful contrasts when limited to smaller usage. Of course,

Warehouse Outlet Furniture Co. Closes Its Doors Tuesday

First Time In Twelve Years

For the first time in over twelve years of business the Warehouse Outlet Furniture Company will close its doors to the public. The official closing will take place at 9:00 A.M. Tuesday, May 1st.

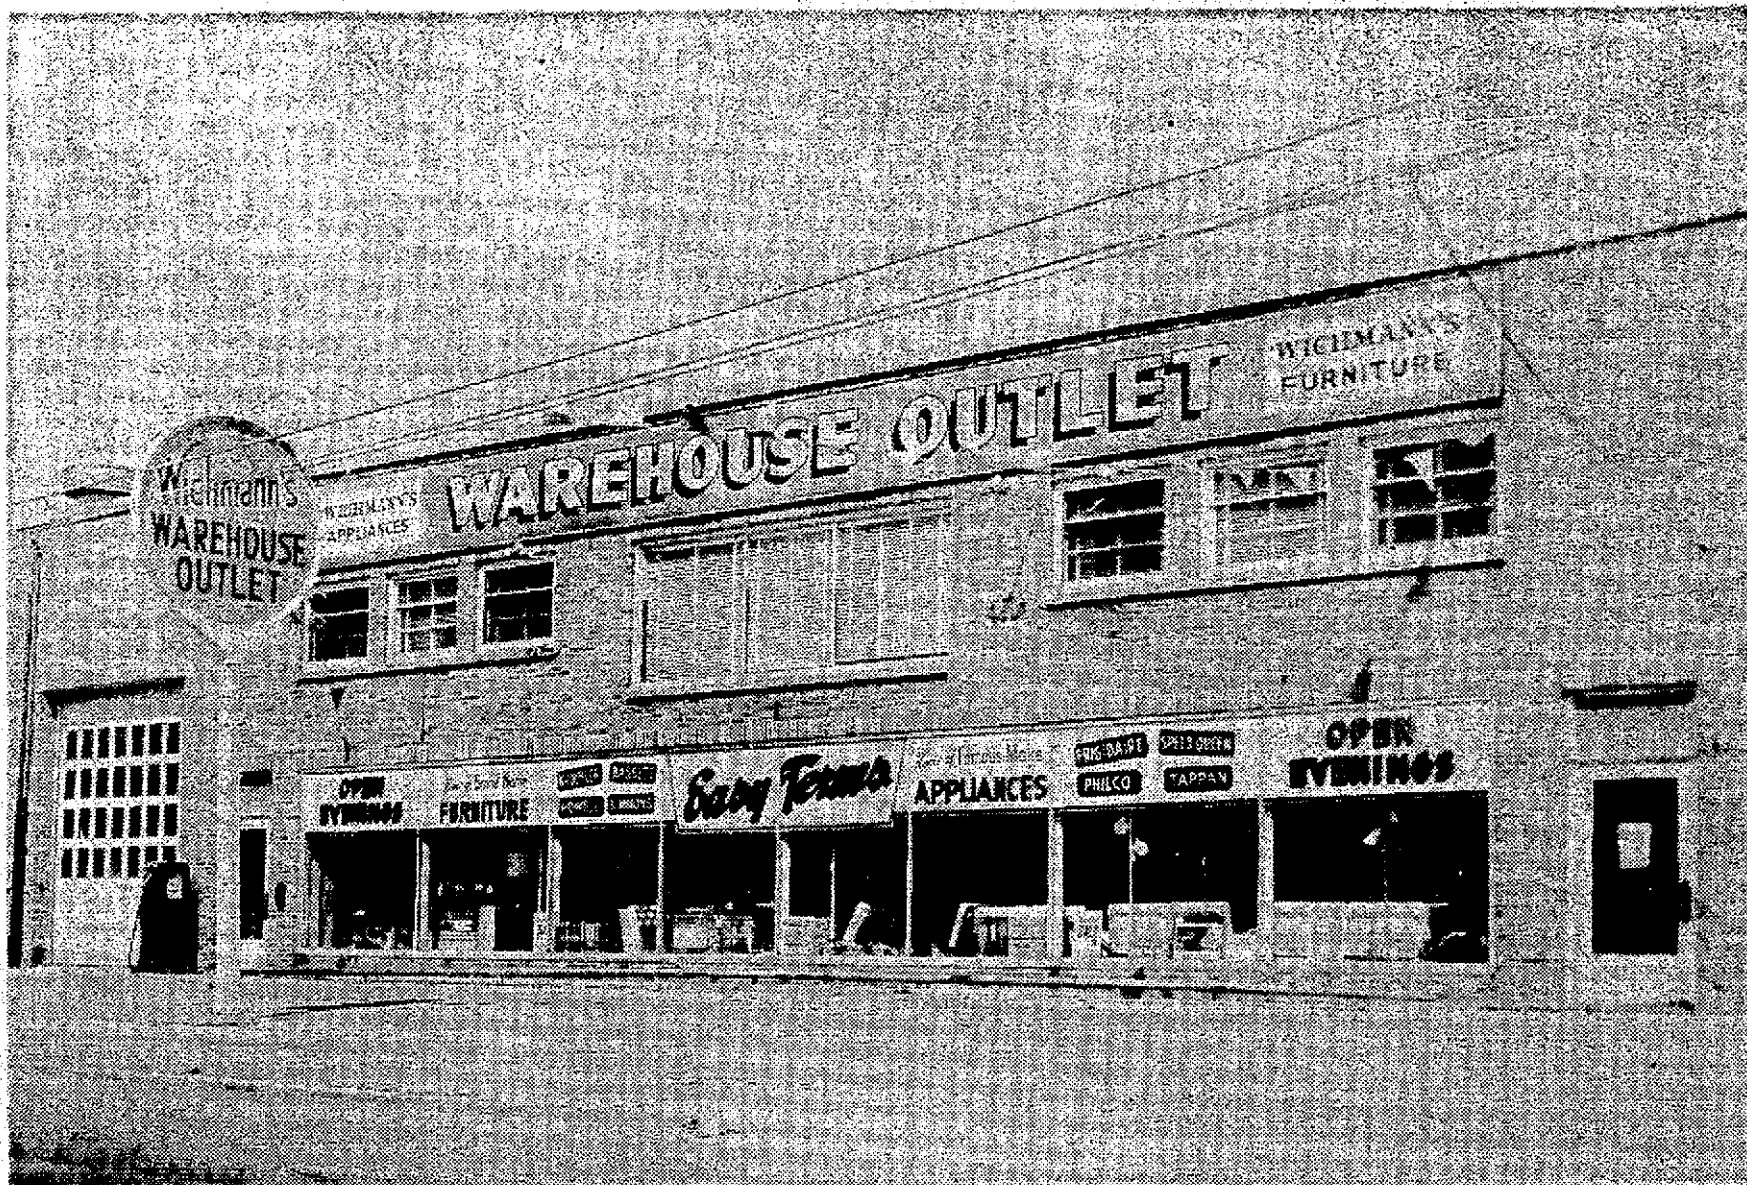

Hundreds and hundreds of items, including furniture, bedding, appliances, rugs, carpeting and other home furnishings will be drastically marked down to give much needed floor space. In addition to the store itself there is a huge warehouse that must be cleared.

And, of course this all takes time. So the Outlet is closing Tuesday to give its personnel that time to get everything ready for this tremendous sale.

You'll be able to save money on famous name merchandise such as Kroehler, Bassett, Frigidaire, Philco, Serta, Sealy and a host of others. It might be wise to check tomorrow night's Post-Crescent for a sampling of the great values being offered.

As you naturally would expect, you will be under no pressure or obligation to buy. The store and warehouse are yours to roam about in, browse in and shop in. But most of all you are extended a cordial invitation to be sure and STOP IN!

Closing its doors? Yes, indeed! For the BIGGEST sale in the Outlet's twelve years.

SHOWN ABOVE is the Warehouse Outlet, at 1320 West Wisconsin Avenue, with its window display lights turned off and its doors closed to business. This is the first time in twelve years of operation that the Outlet will be closed to the public. However, the closing will last only from 9:00 to 5:00 P.M. on Tuesday, May 1st. At 5 P.M. the biggest sale in the Outlet's history will get underway. For six hours only (5 P.M. to 11 P.M.) merchandise will be on sale at prices that you will find excitingly unbelievable.

Modern Look For Kitchens

Built-in Look and Organization Save Space and Work

White is not only the freshest summer hue, but the best choice for any metal furniture which readily becomes hot in the sun. White enamel reflects about 84 per cent of the sun's heat, keeping metal surfaces comfortably cool.

You can apply your quality enamel by brush or spray. If you use the brush method, keep your strokes free and smooth, allowing the enamel to "flow" on generously. Don't refill your brush, but cross-stroke. This spreads the coating evenly and catches any excess. If you prefer to spray, which is the best method for wicker furniture, remember to protect the surrounding area with newspaper or drop cloths. Incidentally, if you haven't a spray gun, you can make use of the spray attachment on your vacuum cleaner.

You'll find it more comfortable to place chairs and tables on a bench or larger table and paint at that convenient height.

Place them upside down and coat the under surfaces at legs, then put them rightside up to finish.

If you paint outdoors, select a day with little wind; you don't want seeds or dust to blow on the fresh finish. When painting indoors, have adequate ventilation.

Professional Decorator Saves Money

Professional decorating advice can help you save money in furnishing your home by guiding you past ordinary hazards which often plague an amateur. The decorator can tell you what furnishings are the best buys for you considering your particular problems and help coordinate your decorating.

Often, good professional advice is yours at no additional expense, or at a very nominal price. For instance, many department stores have home-planning centers where a trained decorator will help with your decorating problems as a part of the store's customer service.

Most larger stores have a decorating department where one decorator, acting in the capacity of a sales person, will advise you. Usually there is no charge for this service, as he is paid a salary or commission from the store's sale of merchandise. And a few large stores have a full-time decorating advisor who will help you with a specific problem or long-range decorating plans.

The term "decorator" is applied to everyone from the white overalls man with a paint bucket to the top-flight professional.

Some depend entirely on profit from the furnishings they sell, and make no additional charge for service, while others charge for consultations.

Modern Look For Kitchens

Built-in Look and Organization Save Space and Work

The easiest way to give your kitchen a modern look is to make it appear "built-in" by adding bright-colored cabinets and continuous counters. Arrange your kitchen in an efficient work triangle and open it up to dining and play areas.

Today the kitchen serves as a multipurpose "family room" and is no longer a single purpose "food preparation" center.

When remodeling your kitchen, it pays to plan carefully so every inch will count. Desks can be built into a 20 or 24 inch space or can be hung on a wall. New laundry equipment fits in a more compact space than ever before.

Do a Double Job

One way to save space in your kitchen is to let each area do more than one job. A pass-through counter can double for an eating area, hobby center, or a place to line up buffet dinners. An extra sink takes little room, yet is handy for soaking jobs at laundry time, for vegetable and fruit washing and flower arranging. Laundries, sewing centers, and handy desk corners away from the main work centers can be as decorative and colorful as the rest of the kitchen.

Kitchens need a central lighting fixture large enough to illuminate the entire ceiling, plus lights above the sink, range, and work tops. Even if you install luminous ceiling fixtures, you still should meet the other requirements, utilizing shielded tubes and bulbs to prevent glare.

In a well-organized kitchen work center, utensils you need the most often are at your fingertips, with each as close as possible to the place where it's used. First Foods, also, are stored according to first use. You can also save many steps by keeping small, inexpensive items such as salt shakers and stirring spoons at all work areas where they are used.

Family Determines Size

The size of your family can help you determine the amount of storage space you will need in your kitchen. If possible, allow approximately six square feet of space on shelves for each person. It's a good idea to make lists of items to be stored and assign cabinet space before you build.

Cabinets, as well as most-used foods and utensils, should be arranged for a minimum of stretching and stooping. There is a correct height for your size. Mixing, washing dishes, and rolling piecrust are best done at different counter heights.

Build Patio For Outdoor Enjoyment

Size Depends Upon Amount You Wish To Spend on Work

Good home planning needn't stop at the walls of your house. You can plan to live on your lot from boundary to boundary with a patio as the center of outdoor enjoyment, extending the dimensions and activities of indoor living to the outdoors for any occasion you want around the clock.

When planning a patio, you should first decide the uses your family will make of it. Do you want it for pure beauty, separation of house and garden, lounging, cooking and eating, entertaining, or children's play?

Whatever the uses, you then must decide which kind of patio will best fit these family interests as well as the size of your family, your budget, the climate, and the available outdoor area.

When you think of patio flooring, roofing, screening and fencing, privacy, lighting, and plantings, you should keep in mind the basic patio plan.

Locate Patio

Locate your patio so you have a convenient indoor-outdoor relationship. Access from the living-dining area or the kitchen is best. Sliding glass doors allow the best movement ease.

The size of your patio depends both on the uses you plan for it and the money you can invest. You should probably consider a 12-foot width as a minimum. A good yardstick is the size of your living room.

The shape can be rectangular, circular, or free form. For a roof, regular shapes are the easiest to build and the best looking. For paved areas only, free forms are practical and pleasantly informal.

Radio Given Careful Use Lasts Longer

Portable radios have become one of the most common "appliances." And because they're so common, most persons take them for granted, thinking little about the care they should receive if they are to deliver a lifetime of satisfactory performance.

Don't drop or jar the radio even though it is advertised as unbreakable. Although there may be no tubes to break, connections may come loose.

Protect it from rain and spray. Water seeping into the case can cause short circuits and corrosion and break down electrical connections.

Protect it from sand. When on the beach, place the radio on a newspaper, blanket or towel.

Protect the radio from heat. Heat is a great enemy of electrical circuits and is one of the reasons tubes and other parts wear out. Make certain openings in the case that permit the free circulation of air are not obstructed. Keep the radio in the shade if possible.

Check batteries frequently for corrosion. Use only leak-proof batteries.

Many portable radios, especially those with transistors instead of tubes and ones with metal or plastic cabinets, can withstand rugged handling without damage. However, a portable given proper care will give better and longer service than one that is handled carelessly.

Can't Sleep? Forget It!

If you can't sleep nights forget it. While this may sound strange, it's true that lying awake worrying about the lack of sleep will only prolong the insomnia. Better to count sheep or chickens, drink some hot toddy, or read a relaxing book. Better yet, check your mattress and see if it's the real culprit. The springs don't have to be popping through to make a mattress obsolete. A slight shifting of materials in an old mattress can destroy its comfortable sleep inducing qualities.

How to Paint Brick

Only alkali-resistant paints should be used on masonry, and this includes brick, because mortar is alkaline. You have a choice of a number of paints for these surfaces: exterior latex masonry paints, portland cement paint (on previously unpainted or cement-painted surfaces, oil-modified masonry paint, and colorless silicone water repellent coatings. Be sure to follow label instructions carefully for information on surface preparation and application.

Radio Makes Excellent Gift For Collegian

Selecting a gift for the college often presents a special problem. An ideal gift is one that will be valued and used by the student and at the same time will fit into college life.

Fitting these requirements especially well is a portable radio. Unlike clothing, which varies in fashion from campus to campus, or books which most students won't get a chance to read anyway, a radio fits perfectly into every collegian's life.

All transistor radios are extremely economical to operate, an important factor to a collegian. Most use common flashlight batteries for power and operate on one set of batteries for hundreds of hours.

In seven pages of an eight-page interim report to Ford stockholders, Philco products are illustrated and described. Henry Ford, II, chairman of the board, and John Dykstra, president, said, "We feel that Philco brings to your company consumer goods that enjoy an excellent reputation and are 'Famous for Quality the World Over'."

Children Need Space For Study and Play

A youngster needs room to be within reach of small child study, as well as space to play in a bedroom.

A boy wants a room where he can "hole up" with his friends. Even a little girl craves a spot that is usable — which to her means open play space, and a place to keep her many "treasures." And it's essential that both rooms include provisions for studying and hobbies. Then, too, children as well as adults need dressing facilities — mirrors, artificial light, privacy — and should have their bedroom located near the bath.

Every little girl deserves some frills in her bedroom decorations. But it's wise to limit them to more personal elements — draperies, bedspreads, wall coverings and accessories. All fabrics should shrug off soil and wrinkles.

Furniture for boys should have simple, masculine lines, and should not be easy to mar.

Should Clean Easily

Walls in children's rooms must be able to take punishment and also have some sound-deadening value. Keeping these walls clean can be a chore if crayon and pencil marks or smudges don't wipe off easily. The floors, too, should be able to stand a little action.

Since bedroom light fixtures often are viewed from a reclining position, exposed bulbs should be covered and care should be taken to see that globes are not excessively bright when lighted.

Children need low shelves to bring toys within easy reach, low drawers for clothing, reachable hooks and closet rods. Include an automatic light in the closet so they can see what they are doing, and a safe step stool if they need to reach high.

Children grow rapidly, so choose furniture to suit their "grown-up" taste, too.

As youngsters acquire more possessions, a well-designed built-in can be adjusted to accommodate them. Most toys for indoor play can be stored on shelves 12 inches deep. Racks for books and records can be made by nailing wood strips to 2-inch square wood blocks, then screwing blocks to wall studs. Quarter-round molding on front edge keeps books in place. If height is kept to 46 inches, shelves will be within reach of small child study, as well as space to play in a bedroom.

A built-in desk of simple design may also serve as a dressing table for a young girl.

Beds can be made from flush, hollow-core doors. Built-in, they can be converted into playing or drawing boards by simply removing plastic foam mattresses. Four-inch plastic foam is thick enough so child's weight doesn't depress it to the limit.

Built-in under-bed storage, if nothing else, saves on annoying stooping to search out shoes or to clean under the bed. If you make the units, put casters under them so they'll slide easily. They make dandy toy storage wagons.

Unit furniture, too, fits into the growth pattern. Two low chests, by removing the legs from one, can be placed one on top of the other. Unit bookshelves can be added to, making them taller.

Small tables from a nest of tables can be used. Include larger ones in your own room. A large cork pin-up board placed low on the wall can be moved up later to be utilized by teenagers. The same applies to closet space; shelves once used for toys can hold items of clothing.

Escape Room For Tense People

Relaxed rooms make relaxed people. In this era of high tension living there should be an "escape" room for the harried husband or the weary wife. Soft colors, good books, low music background help to create serenity. Comfortable chairs and an attractive sofa bed will complete a peaceful picture.

Consider Remodeling

If your family has outgrown your house and you're thinking of building on an addition, first consider remodeling what you already have. Consider converting your attic, basement or attached garage. They're already under the roof and the job will be much cheaper.

Magic Furniture

Now it's a bed, now it's a sofa. Just like that, the new sleep sitting furniture will convert in a wink to make your living room serve many purposes for your treasured guests.

Eugene Lyons of Readers Digest Speaks to 'Act'

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — An attack on the "status quo" foreign policy of the United States was delivered Sunday night at East High School by Eugene Lyons, a senior editor of Readers Digest.
He spoke to an audience of about 300 persons in the first of two weekly programs sponsored by Act, Inc. Next Sunday's speaker will be Sen. Thomas Dodd, Democrat.
Lyons said he was not being overly critical of the current administration, but more so of the responsibilities, and said this presidential election has been present for many years.

...from the fact that the American people have a lack of understanding of the Red menace," and this has been reflected in several administrations of both political parties.
Lyons said President Kennedy inherited a mess from the Eisenhower administration, and probably made it a little worse with the caliber of men with whom he has surrounded himself.
"I do not question their patriotism — only their mentality when it comes to foreign affairs," Lyons said.
It was Lyons' opinion that both political parties have ignored the fact that we are in a real war with their view "this is a contest that is not that serious."
He stated there is a pressure over the current administration to escape re-election, and said this presidential election has been present for many years.

and women who know God through their own personal experience of Him.
To love God is the second function of the church, he said. "It may be easier to love comfort, security and money more than God," he said, "but it is also catastrophe. You have to catch the holy infection — you have to care more for truth than appearances, more for people than for things and more for giving than getting."
The third function of the church is to obey God, not only in the refuge of the meeting house but also in the unprotected arenas where most of our lives are led, he said.
Practiced Elsewhere
"The church is most authentically religious when Christianity is practiced elsewhere than the meeting house — where the Christian worshipper becomes a Christian carpenter and teacher and executive and housewife," he said.
The final function of the church is to proclaim God, this is why the church came into being. "The members of our churches are charged to proclaim God. The church is not a clinic for sick souls, but it is a company of men and women to praise God, to witness God, to speak out and up where the existence of God is denied. Religion is our business."
At two services Sunday morning, Dean Pearson told the con-

EUB Church to be Host for Vacation Bible School Institute

One of the annual Vacation Bible Institutes sponsored by the Division of Christian Education of the Wisconsin Council of Churches will take place at Emmanuel Evangelical Unit and Brethren Church, 740 E. College Ave., on Tuesday.
These one-day interdenominational training sessions are staffed by volunteer leaders representing many denominations and offer help to workers in regular church schools as well as vacation church schools.
The emphasis of the Institute will be on the elements of good teaching, using the Cooperative Vacation Church School curriculum as illustration. The Institute will also assist directors and committees in the philosophy, effective planning, and administration of a vacation church school.
The Institute is expressly for teachers, children's workers, church school superintendents, directors of Christian education, pastors, and all who are concerned with the Christian education of children.
Program
9 a.m. Registration and coffee
9:30 a.m. Worship, orientation session
10 a.m. Department sessions for kindergarten, primary, junior and administration
12 noon Sack lunch, with dessert and coffee furnished by the host church
1 p.m. Departmental sessions
3 p.m. Closing worship by department groups
3:15 p.m. Adjournment
Registration fee for the Institute is $150 per person. Those attending are asked to bring sack lunches.
The manager for this Winnebago Area Vacation Church School Institute is Mrs. Bess Spees of Oshkosh. Teachers for the courses are Mrs. Betty Shurtz, Oshkosh, kindergarten, Mrs. Kelly Churchill, Green Bay, primary, Mrs. George Duchow, Potter, junior, and Mrs. Lloyd Runyon, Oshkosh, administration.

gregation the Protestant Reformation is not dead; it is an on going thing and a responsibility of the Protestant people of God.
A Living Body
"Protestantism is not a corpse — it is a living body; its tale is not yet told," he said.
The Massachusetts educator and churchman suggested that there are four important aspects of the Protestant task: enthusiasm without ignorance; proclamation without animosity; union without conformity; and faith without faithlessness.
"The kind of enthusiasm that is the Protestant's task is an educated, intelligent, informed enthusiasm," he said.
Without Animosity
"We must learn to disagree without being disagreeable," Dean Pearson said. "When we hate the Catholic or the Jew, when we attribute the worst motives to our enemies and the best to ourselves, we are beaten. It is not enough to be without animosity. We have to give a faithful account of what Protestantism has seen and heard."
The task of Protestantism is to effect union without conformity, the dean suggested. "Crushing us all into the same mold results only in our becoming moldy. We propose union to this extent that we look to one Lord, one faith, one baptism. However wide the differences between us and our brothers, they are our brothers, and our hearts must come together."

Troops Occupy Center of Oran

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — French army units occupied the center of Oran Sunday in a maneuver aimed against the terrorist Secret Army Organization then suddenly withdrew today without any explanation.
Officials said the withdrawal probably would be only temporary but the sudden switch mystified supporters of the secret army. Army officers would not discuss the reason for the move.
The troops had gone into the heart of Algeria's second city presumably to enforce a new ban against traffic and parking in the heart of the city. Citizens also were warned not to walk along roadways in the area or to form groups.
As soon as the units were withdrawn this morning, European settlers defiantly drove into the restricted area despite an earlier warning that security forces might fire on violators of the new restrictions.

New Rules for Re-Zoning Get First Approval remain posted for seven days prior to the hearing.

(Objectors often say now they don't know when the commission meets. Hence, they come to the public hearing at the council meeting to voice their opinions. Aldermen have contended for a long time that objections should be made known at the commission meeting so the commission will have that information before it makes a decision and recommendation to the council.)
Notices of the informal hearing will be mailed to the owner of property for which re-zoning is requested, to all signers of the petition and to the alderman of the ward.
The aldermen of the ward will be required to attend the informal hearing or to communicate his position on the proposed re-zoning. If the alderman fails to make his position known, no action will be taken.
(Aldermen have not been required to tell their positions. This often resulted in long debates on the council floor. Many times the debate resulted in sending the petition back to the planning commission.)
After the informal public hearing the commission will report to the council.
The council will study the report and the clerk will be ordered to post notice cards again, for seven days before the formal public hearing.
As with the informal hearing, notices will be sent to the owner of the property, signers of the petition and the ward alderman.
After the formal public hearing the council will either approve or deny the petition.
Draft Amendment
If it is approved the city attorney will draft the amendment to the ordinance, which will be referred to the welfare and ordinance committee. The committee will make a recommendation, which must be approved by the council to be effective.
If the amended ordinance is approved it will be read to the council at three meetings, and become effective at midnight on the Saturday following the council meeting.
The tentative new set of rules will add about two weeks to the time it will take to get a re-zoning petition approved and in effect. It now takes from 10 to 12 weeks to complete the process.

Sarres Named To Winnebago Judge Post

Replaces Cane, Who Will Fill Rest Of Arps' Term

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — James G. Sarres, Oshkosh lawyer, will become a Winnebago County Judge on June 1, Gov. Gaylord Nelson announced today.

The governor re-arranged the judicial manpower of Winnebago County to take into account the June 1 retirement of Circuit Judge Helmuth Arps of Chilton.

The governor appointed County Judge Arnold J. Cane of Menasha, who was recently elected to the circuit court for a six-year term starting next January, as circuit judge to succeed Arps, starting in June.

He then named Sarres to become County Judge to succeed Cane on June 1.

Judge Arps is required to retire under the terms of the state judicial pension act.

The new county judge is a 1941 graduate of Lawrence College and received his law degree from Marquette University in 1948. He has practiced in Oshkosh since that time.

A navy veteran of World War II, who saw action in the Normandy and Okinawa invasions, Sarres is 44 and served as Winnebago divorce counsel and family court commissioner for the last 12 years. He is active in civic and social organizations and is married. The governor said he received strong backing in a poll of Winnebago County lawyers.

Spring Road Students Win Historical Play Contest at Manitowoc

MENASHA — Fifth graders of Spring Road School won first place at the Junior Historians Convention at Manitowoc Saturday for their play "History of the West Shore of Little Lake Butte des Morts." Nine plays were presented and they will receive their award at the Governor's Award Day May 19 at Madison.

The play was written by the class and its teacher, Mrs. Myrna Barr, and all 30 class members took part.

Theme of the play involved six students browsing around a library with portraits on the wall depicting historical events. The portraits came to life and told the visits to the area of Jean Nicolet, Father Marquette and Joliet, the Fox Indians as a tribe and the famed massacre of that tribe by the French and Menominee Indians, settlement of Stroebe's Island and a look into the future as the area loses its farming characteristics, being replaced by recreational areas, airport and increased building.

Martin Speaks in Neenah

Assemblyman Advocates Public Assistance Savings

NEENAH — Savings in the field of public assistance were advocated by Assemblyman David O. Martin in his appearance Friday before the efficiency in government committee of the state legislative council.

"Although there are possibly other areas of cost savings and reduction throughout the state welfare department agencies, I believe the greatest total amount of savings that can be realized lies in the area of public assistance both in social security aids and general relief," Martin stated.

He said there seems to be an indication that public assistance aids to some groups of people are unnecessary both as to the number of recipients and to the amount given each recipient.

Budget Increase
Since an executive budget increase of about $100 million is being predicted for the 1963-65 biennium, with expected increases in revenues being not more than $50 million, the assemblyman said he thought there was no other choice than to attempt to level off spending in the 1963-65 fiscal

More Than 400 Members of the parish of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church attended the dinner Sunday in honor of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Glueckstein's 50th anniversary as a priest. Above, from left are Father Glueckstein, the Rev. Willard McKinnon, former assistant, who acted as Toastmaster, and Dedric Bergstrom. Among the gifts presented by members of the parish were a gold watch, a set of vestments, a purple cassock, a pen and pencil set, a purse of money and a message from the Vatican.

1,600 Tour State Hospital

First Open House For Winnebago's Treatment Facilities

WINNEBAGO — More than 1,600 persons toured Winnebago State Hospital Saturday afternoon during a public open house held between 1 and 5 p.m.

A hospital spokesman said 1,337 persons signed the official register, and another 300 or so made the rounds without signing. The event was the first open house ever held for the general public at the hospital.

"We are quite satisfied it was worthwhile," the spokesman declared. Visitors were allowed to take any or all of four different guided tours. The function and purpose of each department of the hospital was demonstrated in a booth set up in the gymnasium.

Alcoholism
Members of the professional staff were present to participate in a panel discussion on hospital procedures and answer questions in the large classrooms in Hughes Hall.

Two such question - answering sessions were held, with queries centering around the problem of alcoholism. "We are a definite part of the community and we want the public to feel that they are a part of it," Dr. C. H. Belcher, superintendent, declared with reference to the open house. "The community and the taxpayers have given us a job to do and we invite them to see what we are doing. Given their support, we will be able to do a better job than we are doing now."

NEENAH — More than 200 persons attended the open house held Sunday at Winnebago County Guidance Center. A mental health film, "Angry Boy" was shown. Mrs. C. G. R. Johnson, president of the board of Winnebago County Guidance Center, Inc., introduced the fund drive chairman, E. W. Atkins, of the Equitable Reserve Association. Co-chairmen of the open house were Mrs. Gilbert Pitz and Miss Gladys Ithde, both of Oshkosh, assisted by Mrs. Robert Nelson.

Improve Status Of Women, Speaker Urges

Zonta Club's District Governor Outlines Groups Activities

NEENAH — Increasing activity in the area of improving the legal, political and economic status of women was urged by Mrs. Greta Murphy Zonta District VI governor Sunday at the conference of six Wisconsin Zonta clubs. The 2-day parley was held at Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Murphy said the international status of women committee has begun extensive work on the problem and has joined with the President's committee, which has succeeded in removing discrimination against women in civil service job examinations and applications.

The governor reported 300 members of the six Wisconsin Zonta Clubs had contributed 3,549 service hours during the past year and spent 1,488 hours in fund raising. Total contributions of the six clubs for the past year was $9,482.90. She reviewed the structure of the Zonta International organization and its relationship to the local clubs. An outline of the Zonta International convention, to be held in New Orleans in June, was presented.

The annual workshop was conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Worzalla, Neenah, director of Area II. Delegates of each club described service projects and methods of raising money to finance projects. In general, the clubs worked in the areas of younger people's activities and of older citizens. The workshop opened Saturday with registration and a dinner and ended after Sunday afternoon workshop sessions.

Coroner Defers Ruling on Death Of Menasha Man

MENASHA — Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago County coroner, said this morning no official ruling has been made as to the cause of death of Floyd C. Coons, 38, 518 Keyes St., whose body was found inside his car in his garage shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday.

The motor was not running although there was gasoline in the car and the ignition switch turned on. The garage doors were closed. An attending physician said Saturday death could have resulted from a coronary condition.

Dr. Steele said today there were several things still to be checked on before he gave an official ruling as to the death cause. Coons, a resident of Menasha for about a year, was salesman for the Morey Paper Mill Supply Co. of Fitchburg, Mass. He was born Feb. 15, 1924, at Woodland, Maine, and had been employed for 13 years by the St. Croix Paper Co. of that city.

Three Taken to Hospital From Fire at House

OSHKOSH — A fire of undetermined origin caused major damage to the George Klupa home at 1401 Catherine Ave., Saturday night and sent three persons to the hospital with minor injuries. The fire, which was discovered at 11:27 p.m., apparently started in a wall and went up through a false ceiling and double roof. Oshkosh firemen fought the blaze for almost an hour.

Large Suggests Finance Study

Bear Creek Solon Wants Fulltime Committee on Job

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One Republican candidate proposed Sunday that the Wisconsin Legislature establish a fulltime Joint Finance Committee. Another GOP hopeful suggested a six-point highway safety program.

Safety Outline
The fulltime finance committee was suggested by State Sen. Gerald D. Lorge, R-Bear Creek, who seeks GOP nomination as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Speaking in Milwaukee, Lorge said such a committee "would be able not only to check the budget item by item, but would also be able to check departments, their operations and their needs."

Alcohol Evidence
Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles offered the safety outline as he spoke Saturday night in Richland Center. Knowles is campaigning for nomination as the GOP candidate for governor.

Knowles called for laws to crack down on habitual violators, an improved accident reporting system, mandatory periodic examinations for drivers with physical disabilities and more driver improvement schools for violators.

He also proposed lowering the alcohol evidence level in drunk driving cases and for removal of overlapping jurisdictions of state and county traffic patrols.

Tipsy Drivers Fined $400

Shawano Man Can't Park Car After Arrest, Police Say

Two men were fined $200 each after pleading guilty of drunken driving today when they appeared before Judge Gustave J. Keller, Branch 2, Outagamie County Court. Both men lost their driver's licenses for one year.

Otto C. Falk, 42, 204 W. Fifth St., Shawano, was stopped by Outagamie County traffic police about 10:20 p.m. Sunday near the Spencer Street intersection of U.S. 41. Police said the man appeared confused and was unable to tell police where he was. He said he thought he was in Shawano County. Police said the man was unable to park his car.

Falk tested .26 on the drunkometer. A test of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication. Falk told Judge Gustave Keller today he had been drinking beer and bowling all day Sunday.

Everett J. Collar, 47, 305 W. College Ave. was arrested at 11:15 p.m. Sunday when state patrolmen saw him driving erratically on U.S. 41 near Town of Grand Chute. Collar tested .22 on the drunkometer.

Appleton Girl Named Delegate To Youth Meet

Chris Solberg, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Solberg, 3 Westwood Court, Appleton, Sunday was named delegate to the Evangelical and Reformed youth convention at Estes Park, Colo. in August.

The Appleton High School junior will represent the area cluster at the youth fellowship meeting. She is chairman of the faith committee of her church and is on the Appleton Christian Youth Council.

Richard Damrow, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Damrow, Neenah, was chosen alternate. A sophomore at Neenah High School, he is publicity chairman of the Youth Fellowship of the Neenah Immanuel's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Clair Hollerup of Ripon was chosen alternate.

Judges were the Rev. Bryce Armstrong, Neenah, Robert Clayton of Oshkosh and Ronald Pelz, Omro.

Eleven hundred young people and 100 leaders will take part in this convocation. The objective is to help junior high and senior high youth and their adult leaders to understand their faith better, to understand the purpose and work of the youth department of the church and to consider their mission in church and civic affairs.

Patrolman, Sheriff Hurt In Accident

Post-Crescent News Service
SHAWANO — Shawano County Sheriff Carl Krueger and Patrolman Dennis Klemm were hospitalized Sunday afternoon after the squad car they were in was involved in a collision near Shawano.

Klemm was the driver of the car which was on an emergency run to Shawano when it collided with another driven by Wallace Green, Wausau.

The crash occurred a quarter mile west of Shawano on State 29 at 1:55 p. m. A third car, driven by Kenneth Giessel, Tilleda, was traveling west on the highway when a front tire blew out forcing the vehicle into a guard rail at a corner.

Klemm's squad car came around the corner. When he swerved to avoid hitting the Giessel car he collided with the Green auto.

Sheriff Krueger received rib injuries. Klemm suffered minor cuts and bruises. Green also was hospitalized with minor injuries. All were taken to the hospital by the Born Ambulance.

Lutheran Church. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the Brett-Schneider Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Tuesday until 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, and then at the church until the hour of the service.

Man Found Dead At Home by Police

Joseph H. Beiring, 70, 416 S. Weimar St., was found dead at his home about 7:30 p. m. Sunday. He has lived alone for about a year.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps listed cause of death as heart failure. A post mortem examination was made Sunday.

Police had to force the door of the home open after they had been called by a neighbor.

Inmate Dies After Boxing At Reformatory

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Boxing activities at the Wisconsin State Reformatory were suspended "temporarily" today following the death Sunday of an inmate after a supervised "sparring session."

It was the second boxing death at the institution in 2 years.

Douglas Klosterhuber, 22, of Boscobel, was one of two reformatory inmates to die over the weekend. A second inmate, Clarence King Jr., 21, Milwaukee, died early this morning after undergoing an emergency appendectomy operation. King was assigned to Camp McNaughton, a reformatory honor camp near Rhinelander.

Autopsies were being performed this morning on the bodies of both inmates to determine the exact cause of death.

Took Lessons
Klosterhuber, who would have been released in two weeks died about 4:30 Sunday afternoon after taking boxing lessons in the reformatory gymnasium. He had been sparring with another inmate, using 16 ounce gloves and regulation headgear.

Klosterhuber complained of feeling faint following the sparring match, and went to lie down on a mat to rest. Recreation director Julius "Bud" Kossik and Guard Howard Wellens, who were supervising the activities, noticed Klosterhuber.

Kossik ordered Klosterhuber into the institution hospital where he was admitted five minutes later. The reformatory's doctor, Dr. Douglas Guthell, was called, and arrived at 4:10 p. m., 20 minutes after Klosterhuber was admitted.

Oxygen was administered, artificial respiration and external heart massage were used, but Klosterhuber died at 4:30 p. m.

Boxing Stopped
Dr. Guthell attributed the probable cause of death to a brain hemorrhage. He ordered an autopsy to make sure. According to the physician, Klosterhuber may have suffered from a congenital aneurysm, or weak spot in a wall of a blood vessel in his head.

The physician said death could have resulted merely from the excitement of sparring and not necessarily from any blows to the head. Witnesses to the sparring match said they saw no blows to Klosterhuber's head.

Another reformatory inmate, Michael Golubiff, 18, West Allis, died as the result of a boxing injury during a reformatory boxing match two years ago.

Reformatory Supt. M. A. Skaiff today announced the suspension of boxing activities "for this year anyway." Klosterhuber's death came in the middle of a reformatory boxing tournament. Skaiff said a final decision on the future of the institution's boxing program would be made at a later date.

Yanks Take Lead With Double Win Over Washington

Senators Suffer 12th and 13th Successive Defeats, 3-2, 11-6

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whitey Ford's tight pitching in the open-er and a 15-hit attack in the night-cap Sunday gave the New York Yankees two victories over Washington 3-2 and 11-6—the 12th and 13th consecutive defeats for the Senators.

The double win enabled the Yanks to take over the American League lead.

A crowd of 31,466 in D.C. Stadium saw the Senators' outthundered Yankees, five to three, with Harry Bright and John Schaefer hitting two each and Bob Schmidt one for Washington.

Roger Maris hit his fourth for the Yankees, three in this series, and had six hits and four runs batted in for the day.

Clete Boyer hit his fifth homer cap Sunday gave the New York Yankees two victories over Washington 3-2 and 11-6—the 12th and 13th consecutive defeats for the Senators.

The Senators were off to one of their rare leads in the first inning of the nightcap when Bright homered over the left field fence with one on. But the Yanks tied it with single runs in the second and third and scored six in the fourth as 10 men went to bat against McClain.

Bud Daley Winner

Schaefer's home run with one on and Schmidt's following homer cut the Yanks' lead to 9-6 and Jim Coates relieved starter and winner Bud Daley in the 6th. Chuck Cottier greeted Coates with a double, and after Chuck Woodling, batting for Jim Piersall, sent a sliced drive to left that Yogi Berra caught.

Ford went the distance for the first time this season. He gave up solo homers to Bright and Schaefer for the Senators' only runs and put down a threat in the eighth when the Senators had two on and one out.

The Yankees scored single runs

Fox Valley Soccer Club Raps Racine

The Fox Valley Soccer Club romped past the Racine Soccer Club, 8-1, Sunday afternoon at the Madison Junior High School Field.

The match was the first home event of the season for the Fox Valley team and was witnessed by around 200 fans.

John Van Pelt scored goals with Harry Kelderman getting two.

Lambert Geitman and Gunther Kaulfus scored one each for the winners.

The Fox Valley Club will travel to Milwaukee next Sunday to engage the Victoria team at 3:30 p.m. at Lincoln Park.

Hubbs Hit Behind Ear

Giants' Pierce, Sanford Shut Out Chicago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The pre-season experts all pegged pitching as San Francisco's major weakness. But not that they to Chicago Cubs head coach Elvin Tappe.

His charges couldn't buy a run in 18 innings of National League baseball here Sunday.

"The Giants, the Dodgers, Pittsburgh, St. Louis—they're all good clubs. But that Giant pitching," said Tappe, shaking his head and counting the six base hits Chicago got for its day's work.

Jack Sanford and Billy Pierce each pitched a masterful three-hit shutout. The 7-0 and 6-0 victories carried San Francisco into second place and set the stage for a four-game series beginning here today against first-place Pittsburgh.

Taken to Hospital

Sanford's only rocky moment came against Ken Hubbs, the second batter of the day. The broad-shouldered right-hander plunked Hubbs behind the left ear with a fast ball that sent the Chicago second baseman to the hospital.

Sanford said he wasn't dusting

This Zany Scene occurred in Sunday's first game between the New York Mets and Philadelphia Phillies in the Polo Grounds. Frank Thomas (25) was trapped between third and home but hustled back to third where he was tagged by Philly Catcher Sammy White. Charlie Neal also had been on third but suddenly he raced back to second safely and Gil Hodges returned from second to first. The confused Phillies Don Demeter (24), at right, and Rueben Amaro, at left, look on. The umpire is Dusty Boggess. The Mets won, 8-0, but lost the nightcap.

Buzhardt, Wynn Hurl Chisox Double Victory Over Boston

Chicago Climbs Into Second Place With 2-1, 5-1 Wins

CHICAGO (AP)—Old Early Wynn and young Johnny Buzhardt pitched the Chicago White Sox to a double victory over the Boston Red Sox Sunday 2-1 and 5-1 for a sweep of their four-game series.

Wynn, the 42-year-old veteran who was pitching the majors when the 25-year-old Buzhardt was in diapers, limited the Red Sox to three hits and rang up the 293rd victory of his illustrious career.

It was also his first triumph since last July when he called it quits for the 1961 season because of arm trouble. Wynn was nicked for a run in the second inning on an infield single by Frank Malone, a walk and a single by Chuck Schilling.

Prom then on the only hit he allowed was a fourth inning single by Russ Nixon. His teammates jumped on starter Galen Cisco for three runs in the third featured by rookie Mike Hershberger's bases-loaded single. That was all the support needed. He struck out six and walked four.

Hershberger Hero

Hershberger was the batting hero in the opener when his first major league home run snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning and sent Buzhardt rolling to his third victory in four decisions on a snappy four-hit performance.

Some snappy base-running helped the White Sox grab a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Jim Landis opened with a single and then went all the way to second. Landis scored on Joe Cunningham's infield out.

Boston tied it in the fourth on a double by Carl Yastrzemski, two walks and an infield out.

The double victory boosted the White Sox into second place, one-half game behind the New York Yankees who open a three-game series in Chicago Tuesday night.

Wally Weber Cards First Ace at BDM

Wally Weber scored the first hole-in-one of the season at Butte des Morts Golf Course Sunday afternoon.

Weber, using a 6 iron, scored the ace on the 133-yard 12th hole.

Weber was playing in a four-some which included Mike Rueckl, John Goehler and Al Corrado.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTLING — Mike Hershberger, White Sox—hit his first major league home run to snap a 1-1 tie for a 2-1 White Sox victory in the opener. He singled home two runs to snap a 1-1 tie for a 5-1 second game victory.

PITCHING — Alvin McBean, Pirates—pitched a seven-hit and, with the help of Dick Stuart's seventh inning home run, defeated the Dodgers 1-0 in the nightcap after the Pirates had won the first game 6-1.

Colts Snap Braves' Streak With Homers

Clout by Mejias in Ninth Wins It

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves were back in the second division today, surrounded by the shambles of their five-game winning streak.

The Braves, who had climbed to fifth place and the first division Saturday night, slipped to sixth place Sunday when beaten 3-2 by the Houston Colts, who collected all of their runs on solo homers.

The deciding blast was delivered by Ramon Mejias who swung on the first pitch delivered by reliever Don McMahon in the bottom of the ninth.

However, the Braves were in a position to start a winning streak anew as they moved into Philadelphia for a game tonight with the Phillies, beaten three times straight by Milwaukee as it got its streak started last week. Warren Spahn, 2-2, was set to start for Milwaukee against Jack Hamilton, 1-2.

Lew Burdette started for Milwaukee Sunday in quest of his first victory against three defeats. Burdette lasted seven innings, giving up five hits and two runs. The Braves were trailing 2-1 when he left after being bombed for a series of long drives to the outfielders.

Strikes Out Two

McMahon, making one of his rare appearances, came on in the eighth and showed his old form in striking out two as the Colts went down in order.

Milwaukee got to tiring Hal Woodeshick in the ninth to tie the score. Hank Aaron singled with one out and went to second on an infield out by Eddie Matthews. Joe Adcock's bouncing single to left scored Aaron. After Woodeshick, a left-hander who held the Braves to six hits, walked Frank Bolling, Dick Farrell took over the Houston hurling.

Farrell needed only three pitches to retire Del Crandall, and claimed his first victory in three decisions when Mejias unloaded his fourth homer of the season a few minutes later. The defeat went to McMahon and is his only decision.

Milwaukee opened the scoring in the second as Bolling slugged his first homer, a solo shot into the left field seats.

The Colts tied the score in the fifth on Hal Smith's homer and went ahead in the seventh as former Brave Jim Pendleton drove a homer over the left field wall.

Big 'If' Derby Will Be Run Saturday

Most of the Field Have Turned In Some Great Performances

BY JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — This is the year of the big "If" Derby. The answers won't be available until late next Saturday afternoon, when the twin spires of old Churchill Downs throw long shadows across a finish line that has greeted 87 winners and 958 losers since 1875.

The 68th running of the 125,000-added Kentucky Derby, the famed 1 1/4 miles where 3-year-olds start their first acid test in the Triple Crown, is one of the most confusing in many years. An electronic brain would be stopped here.

We have Sir Gaylord, Ridan, Sunrise County, Admiral's Voyage, Crimson Satan, Roman Line, Sir Ribot, Doc Jockey, Donut King, Royal Attack and others.

Pick any one name from a fedora, and you could have the winner.

Few doubted that Citation would demolish his rivals in 1948. He did, and went on to sweep the triple, adding the Preakness and Belmont. Big Cy trounced his stablemate, Coaltown, and four others with enough nerve to show up in Louisville.

Ruth Bobber Slams 211-542

KIMBERLY — Ruth Bobber pounded a 211 game and 542 series to take honors in the final night of action in the Kimberly Women's Bowling League at Jerry's Lanes.

Jerry's Lanes won the league title. Other honor scores were hit by Jerry Alberts, 505, and Eva Franz, 202, 514.

Dave Felzer rapped a 257 single and Don Reynebeau hit a 660 series to share honors in the final night of action in the Tri City Bowling League at Little Chute Recreation.

Butter's Bar won the championship after a split season bowl-off with Gene's Bar.

Perfect Line Is Second For George

George Panke's 300 game and a 708 national honor count by Al Seemann got the eighth annual Mixed Couples tournament off to a roaring start at Hahn's Lanes Sunday.

Seemann's high aggregate, along with a 454 series by his wife, Gen, put them in first place with a 1,162 total. They won the tournament last year.

Panke's perfect game was sandwiched between 197 and 180 scores as he finished with a 677 series. It was the second perfect game of Panke's career. He had one July 18, 1961—also at Hahn's.

Seemann recorded games of 246, 204 and 258 for the top series. It was his first national total since he started bowling in 1946. Seemann had topped the 690 mark in series on four previous occasions.

The game series included 20 strikes by Seemann. He had eight in the first game, five in the second and seven in the third. Seemann has averages of 198 in the Tavern League, 195 in the Major Scratch League and 200 in a couples loop.

George Panke

The Seemanns are followed in the current tourney standings by Elaine Krueger and Jim Shebilske who have a 1,129 total. The Pankes are third with 1,114 and following are Sadie Bolling and Bud Jentz with 1,076 and Karly Limpert and Wally Roblee, 1,066.

L. C. Sternberger owns Doc Jockey, who beat Admiral's Voyage and Royal Attack in the East Felicite Stakes last winter. East-erns have learned not to take these Californians lightly.

Which brings up another Californian, Donut King, owned by Verne Winchell. Donut King missed winter racing due to a cut foot, but there were many at Aqueduct who believed he was the best horse in the Wood Memorial. He was taken up sharply in the backstretch once in light quarters, and was carried a bit wide when Sunrise County veered out in the stretch. Last October, Donut King out-gamed Jaipur and won the 200,000 Champagne Stakes at Aqueduct.

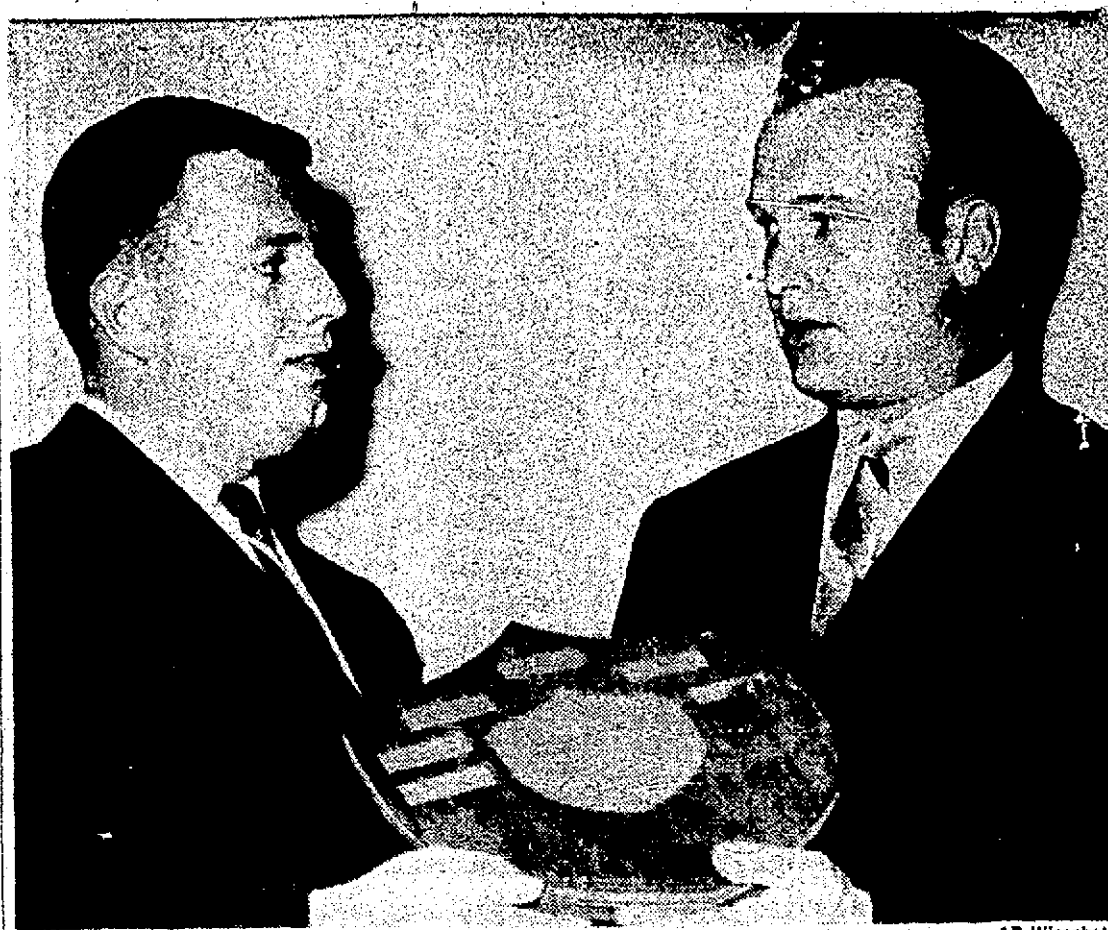

Jaipur is being held out of the Derby but will be waiting for Derby survivors in the Preakness and Belmont.

The 1961 champion 2-year-old was Crimson Satan, owned by Peter Salmen. Cr. Crimson Satan beat Donut King in the Garden State Stakes, then took the Pimlico Futurity. But he was a disappointment at Hialeah this year. Maybe he couldn't stand balmy weather in winter like other tourists, but since they sent him to Kentucky, he's been looking more like his old self.

Green Bay Packer halfback Paul Hornung received his second Red Dunn Memorial Award in Milwaukee Saturday night as Wisconsin's 1961 "Athlete of the Year." Hornung was picked for the prize in an Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters. Charlie Dunn, left, Red's son, presented the plaque.

Drake Relays Have Speed; Muscle Shows in Penn Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The comparison of times and distances between the annual Drake and Penn track and field meets this year results in two definite conclusions: Drake had the speed and Penn the muscle.

A check of summaries from both meets in this annual figure filbert field day shows Drake competitors bettered their Penn counterparts, 11 to 7. Ten of Drake's superior performances were in the running events, while six of Penn's toppers were in field events.

Taking the track events first, Florida AM's sophomore sensation, Bob Hayes, turned in a 9.5 second 100-yard dash as against 9.7 for the Penn winner, Dennis Richardson of Abilene Christian. Houston's Pat Cibley won the Drake 2-mile run in 9:56, while Jared Norse of Duke needed 9:11.3 at Philadelphia.

Better Figures
In the only other comparative individual competition, Ray Cunningham of Texas was clocked in 13.9 at Drake for the 120-yard high hurdles, while Penn's only double winner, Russ Rogers of Maryland State leaped and ran the same distance in 14.2.

Penn runners bettered Drake figures in only one of the relay races, the 880, in which Villanova's quartet of Pat Nicastro, Paul Drayton, Bob Raemore and Frank Budd, negotiated the distance in 1:25, as against 1:25.3 at Drake for Florida A.M.

In the other relays: Florida A.M., with Hayes the anchor man, cut out a 40.8 in qualifying for the 440-final; Texas Southern ripped off a 3:11.4 in a mile relay qualifying event, Kansas took the 2-mile in 7:35, and the 4-mile in 16:57, Missouri the sprint medley in 3:19.2, Southern Illinois the distance medley in 9:50.8, and Nebraska the 480-yard shuttle hurdles in 58.8.

In the same events at Penn, Abilene Christian's winning 440 was clocked in 41.6, NYU's mile relay combine in 3:12.9, Michigan's 2-mile quartet in 7:38 and its 4-mile team in 17:12.5; NYU's Villanova's distance medley sprint medley winners in 3:25.8, champion in 10:04.7, and Winston-Salem's shuttle hurdles in 59.3.

The only field event won by Drake was the high jump on a 6 foot, 7 3/4 inch performance by Colin Ridgway of Lamar Tech.

Ingemar Weds Birgit In Private Ceremony

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Former world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson Sunday married his fiancée, Birgit Lundgren, at a private ceremony in the home of his brother Rolf.

Rolf and his wife Anette were the only witnesses.

After the wedding, the couple left for Geneva, where they will spend the next month and where Ingemar will continue his training for a match against European champion Dick Richardson.

Birgit, a comely blonde, accompanied Ingemar on his three trips to the United States for title fights with Floyd Patterson. Johansson surprised the boxing world when he knocked out Patterson in their first fight.

He then lost the championship back to Patterson in the second fight and was knocked out in their third bout.

Twins Use Power to Top Cleveland Twice

Indians Drop From Lead in 8-4, 7-3 Losses
CLEVELAND (AP) — The Minnesota Twins went on a home-run binge and toppled and Cleveland Indians from first place in the American League by sweeping a doubleheader 8-4 and 7-3 Sunday.

The Twins tagged starter and loser Gary Bell and Barr Latman for six solo home runs in the nightcap to tie a major league record. John Goryl belted two and the others were by Lenny Green, Don Mincher, Zorro Versalles and Bill Tuttle.

Minnesota broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning of the first game with a four-run outburst in which Harmon Killebrew and Tuttle cracked pinch singles to account for three runs. Dick Stigman won it in relief and Latman, Saturday's winner, was the loser.

Bell, a right-hander, pitched six innings and allowed nine hits, five of them homers. He struck out six in losing his first game in three decisions.

Five of the round trippers were hit during the first six innings as Minnesota built up a 5-3 lead. Tuttle's blast in the seventh was off Latman.

Right-hander Don Lee pitched the entire game and is now 2-1. Cleveland rookie Al Luplow touched him for a first-inning solo clout, his second of the season. Lee retired 10 straight Cleveland batters before Mike de la Hoz got a pinch single in the ninth.

In the first game, each team used a total of 16 players. Minnesota put in four pitchers and Cleveland five. Chuck Essegian whacked a two-run homer off Minnesota starter Jack Kralick in that contest.

Reds, Cardinals Split Twin Bill

Cincinnati Cops Second Game After Dropping Opener, 16-3

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds ended St. Louis' winning streak at four games and dropped the Cardinals out of the National League lead by winning the second game of a doubleheader, 4-3 Sunday on Eddie Kasko's ninth-inning home run. The Cards clobbered the Reds 16-3 in the first game.

The Redbirds, with Kenny Boyer driving in five runs and Curt Flood banging four hits, won the opener behind the six-hit pitching of Larry Jackson. The victory was Jackson's third against one defeat.

Unbeaten right-hander Bob Purkey gained his fourth victory in the nightcap for the Reds, who used the home run for all of their runs before a crowd of 22,568.

Vada Pinson and Gordy Coleman socked home runs in each

Bob Beltrone Re-Elected as Baseball Chief

Bob Beltrone, Appleton, was reelected to a 2-year term as Wisconsin American Legion baseball commissioner at a meeting held here Sunday.

William Winius, Little Chute, was elected to the board of directors as a team representative for the Region 4 area. Winius replaced Ernie Haack.

Reelected president of the board of directors was Joe Bloom of Rhinelander and "Chick" Evans, LaCrosse, was retained as secretary.

Beltrone announced that state regional tournaments will open July 23, sectionals start Aug. 2 and the state finals will be at Wisconsin Dells Aug. 9, 10, 11 and 12.

The commissioner also announced that effective with the 1962 season, amateur and semi-pro teams will be off limits to American Legion players.

No More Tickets Available for Lombardi Fete

GREEN BAY — Tonight's testimonial for Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packer head coach and general manager, is a sell-out.

Committeemen have been flooded with requests for more tickets. But no more will be printed and no more than 600 (at $6 per) will be seated for the Green Bay Elks Club function.

Jim Crowley will be the principal speaker. Other noted guests include NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and Chicago Bear Coach George Halas.

The Packers' annual stockholders' meeting will be held at WBAY Auditorium Wednesday night.

8,861 Watch Openers in Northern Loop

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Northern League got its 27th season off to a rousing start over the weekend with 8,861 fans watching openers at Winnipeg, Bismarck, Minot and Grand Forks.

Eau Claire whipped Winnipeg in Saturday's opener 19-6. In idleness Sunday, Minot mauled St. Cloud 13-0. Bismarck - Mandan tripped Aberdeen 6-2 and Grand Forks blanked Duluth - Superior 6-0 in a game shortened by rain and wet grounds to six innings.

The top crowd was at Bismarck where 3,200 turned out for the Pards' Northern League debut. At Minot, 3,079 welcomed the Mallards' return after a year's absence. Grand Forks had 1,300 and Winnipeg 1,282.

Third baseman Ron Liptak homered and shortstop Teo James had three hits, two of them triples, and drove in three runs for Eau Claire. Gary Wyche, Vic Lowinger and Ray Staffani homered for Winnipeg.

Minot cracked 10 hits and took advantage of 13 walks issued by St. Cloud pitchers and two Rox errors for their top-sided triumph. Willie Lee's two-run homer was the big blow in Bismarck - Mandan's victory while Joe Gockel and Fred Lasher gave the Pheasants only six hits.

Two Rallies Lead Detroit Over Angels

LA's Dean Chance Shelled Out in Big Third Inning

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers bombarded the Los Angeles Angels with two big rallies triggered by home runs Sunday and coasted to a 13-6 victory behind Phil Regan's pitching.

Jake Wood's three-run homer—an inside-the-park blast that he legged out—started the Tigers off in a seven-run third. Consecutive homers by Billy Bruton and Al Kaline opened the Tigers' five-run fifth. Dick Brown belted a Tiger homer in the seventh.

Regan was breezing with a 12-0 lead and a one-hitter when the Angels retaliated. They scored two in the sixth on Lee Thomas' home run and three in the seventh on Bob Rodgers' homer, plus Albie Pearson's continuing extra-base spree.

Pearson, the smallest player in the major leagues, was the biggest thorn in Regan's side with three consecutive doubles before he pulled up lame.

His six consecutive extra base hits in two games tied an American League record held by many.

None of the Angels' four pitchers escaped damage in the Tigers' 13-hit attack. The loss went to rookie Dean Chance, who was shelled out in the third.

Herb Weber Wins Medal as Vikes Lose 2 and Tie

Lawrence College's Herb Weber won medalist honors with a 5-over-par 77 in a quadrangular golf match at Northfield, Minn., Saturday.

The Vikes tied St. Olaf, 7½-7½, but lost to Ripon (10½-4½) and to Carleton (9½-5½).

Carey Wickland was Lawrence's second-best scorer, with an 81.

Hornung Expects To be Released From Army July 15

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Paul Hornung, running star of the Green Bay Packers, said Saturday night he expects to be released from the Army July 15, the starting date for practice for the 1962 National Football League season.

Hornung, a PFC. and jeep driver at Ft. Riley, Kan., flew in to receive the sixth annual Joseph (Red) Dunn Memorial Award as Wisconsin's 1961 "athlete of the year."

Hornung said he now weighs 218 pounds, eight more than when the Packers beat the New York Giants 37-0 in the NFL championship game Dec. 31.

Hornung collected 176 points last year and won the individual scoring title despite missing two games because of his callup by the Army. He scored a record 19 points in the title game.

Other Vike cards: John Alton, 85; Bill Leeson, 93; and Walt Isaac, 101.

Dan Gilmore, Lawrence, who plays either No. 1 or 2 for Lawrence, was unable to compete.

The Vike's next match is against Lakeland at Sheboygan's Pine Hills course Thursday.

Skelly Oil Company, who brought you KEOTANE, now makes this startling statement:

No Matter Who Says What About Regular Gasolines, This Fact Remains:

Skelly's "SUBTRACTIVE" Refining Process plus Skelly's detergent-action ADDITIVE KT-3 makes Skelly Regular the best regular gasoline—regardless of price:

See Why A Dirty Engine Costs You Money

A DIRTY ENGINE wastes gasoline, wastes oil, idles "rough," needs frequent repairs and tune-ups, gradually loses power—and wears out fast.

See Why A Clean Engine Saves You Money:

A CLEAN ENGINE saves gasoline, saves oil, gives more trouble-free miles, has more power, livelier pick-up—and runs far smoother.

Read these tested and proven scientific reasons why:

All raw petroleum, as it comes from the ground, contains many harmful substances that can build damaging gum and carbon deposits in combustion chambers and carburetors of modern high speed engines.

Skelly solves this problem in two important ways:

At The Refinery . . .

Skelly subtracts harmful substances from raw petroleum to bring you the cleanest, purest gasoline made anywhere.

At Skelly Distribution Centers . . .

Skelly adds detergent-action KT-3 to clean up old deposits in your carburetor and engine, and to keep new deposits from forming.

Result: Skelly laboratory tests proved that KT-3 out-cleaned the average of nearly 40 leading gasoline additives . . . 30% better in carburetors; 20% better in valve areas; 19% better in intake systems, and 12% better in combustion chambers.

You Pay No More For KT-3

So, why settle for less? Fill up with Skelly Regular today and let KT-3 put new pep in your engine.

WANTED: 100,000 TEST DRIVERS!

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: The use of favor for resemble is a colloquialism, and should be avoided in good usage. Say, "The boy resembles his father," not "favors his father."

Often Mispronounced: Profile. Pronounce pro-file, and not "pro-feel," sometimes heard. Often Misspelled: Prophecy (the noun). Prophecy (the verb). Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: amnesty; political pardon; overlooking. "The alleged war profiteer was granted amnesty by the government."

Broadway Awards to Musical, London Play

Paul Scofield, Margaret Leighton Honored for Distinguished Acting

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP) — Two English stars, a London play and an American musical are Broadway's 1962 Tony Award champions.
Paul Scofield and Margaret Leighton won the annual medallions presented by the American Theater Wing Sunday night for distinguished performance. Named as the outstanding play — with five awards — was "A Man For All Seasons" by Robert Bolt, in which Scofield appears.
The big musical, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," captured seven prizes, including one to Robert Morse as the male tune-show star.

"Night of Iguana"
The citation to Miss Leighton was for her portrayal in Tennessee Williams' "The Night of the Iguana."

It was the second straight year that the silver trophies for stellar dramatic acting went to visitors from London. The 1961 winners were Sir Laurence Olivier and Joan Plowright.

The voting by the wing membership for the outstanding female musical star ended in a tie between Anna Maria Alberghetti of "Carnival" and Diahann Carroll of "No Strings."

Tie in Choreography
Another tie was registered in the choreographer category. Agnes De Mille of "Kwamina" and Joe Layton of "No Strings" divide the honors.

The presentations were made before 1,500 guests at the wing's annual dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel by an array of stage luminaries including Helen Hayes, Robert Preston, Robert Goulet, Celeste Holm, Jason Robards Jr., Ray Bolger and Helen Menken, president of the organization.

Special citations were presented to Brooks Atkinson, former drama critic of the New York Times; Bruno Zeffirelli, director-designer of the Old Vic production of "Romeo and Juliet"; and to composer Richard Rodgers. The latter also received the competitive Tony for the season's outstanding score for "No Strings."

Devil Takes On Webster Again on TV

BY TV SCOUT
7-8 (Channel 2) — Golden Showcase dips back into the library for a repeat of "The Devil and Daniel Webster," first shown on Feb. 14, 1960. This is the television version of Stephen Vincent Benet's short story. Edward G. Robinson, under tons of make-up, plays Sen. Webster, with David Wayne as the Devil, alias Sam Hill, a Boston lawyer. It's a spirited story and this is a good, workmanlike version.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Cheyenne Show goes all-out for Western clichés this week, with Bronco (Ty Hardin) leading a wagon train full of Virginians to the Pacific northwest. On the way, they run into Gerald Mohr, who hates everybody in general and Virginians and Ty Hardin in particular.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — The Rifleman gets clobbered by two outlaws as this week's chapter begins. He's shot in the head at virtually point-blank range, but emerges with a bit of blood and a case of amnesia.

8-9 (Channel 11) — SurfSide 6 has a pretty good mystery this week, but it's tricked out in some dialogue which is supposed to be fast-paced and clever but succeeds in merely being brittle and distracting. Roger Smith of 77 Sunset Strip pops up in Miami to investigate some threats to singer Bobby Troup, and is immediately the victim of a good murder frame-up plot.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Cousin Virgil (Michael Pollard) descends on Barney Fife (Don Knotts) on tonight's Andy Griffith Show. And, while Virgil means well, he's all thumbs and big toes. He breaks things, ruins things, wrecks things. It's up to Andy

Hits, Misses Seen at Fair In Seattle

Monorail, Needle, Exhibit of U. S. Most Popular

BY BOB THOMAS
SEATTLE, (AP) — Hits and misses of the Century 21 exposition:

As everyone expected, the hottest attractions at the Seattle world's fair are the Space Needle, the monorail and the U.S. science exhibit.

Last Monday folks were waiting 2½ hours to lunch in the revolving restaurant atop the needle. The monorail is constantly crowded and has proved a boon for relieving traffic congestion; it speeds 1.2 miles to downtown Seattle in 90 seconds.

The federal science pavilion is drawing huge throngs; luckily it can handle them. Another popular attraction is the skyride, in which buckets skim over the fair dangle from cables. Like the monorail, it is a feature of Disneyland.

Other Hits
What are the other hits of the fair?

Many of the foreign exhibits are handsomely done, especially the tasteful and imaginative British display. The space agency's collection of orbital gadgets is fascinating, though it is stuck in a far reach of the grounds.

The international fountain is a striking feature. It looks like a huge, semi-sunk sea mine with scores of nozzles that shoot water 100 feet in ever-changing patterns.

As with all fairs, county to world's, the food circus is a major focus of attention.

Some Misses
What are the misses of the Seattle world's fair?

The theme exhibit, the World of Century 21, must be chalked up as a near-miss. The setting is impressive — 3,500 four-foot silvery cubes suspended in the cave-like coliseum, four acres under a single roof. The show inside has its moments, but lacks the impact one would expect from a $2.7-million outlay.

to step in with his usual brand of homespun psychiatry.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Ben Casey saves money this week—no guest stars. That's because a patient turns up with a head injury and, while being treated, develops smallpox. So the neurosurgical ward is quarantined. Among those restrained by the quarantine are Vince Edwards, Bettye Ackerman and Chaf Johnson and Ellen McRae, as two young inmates who discover each other during the crisis.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Thriller has a film which is unlike most shows in the series, in that there is nothing eerie or supernatural here. Instead, we're with three private detectives working on a case. This is a pilot film for a potential series, with the gimmick being international cooperation. The three are an American (Lin McCarthy), an Englishman (Sean McClory) and a Canadian (David Frankham).

Actor Van Johnson plants a kiss on the cheek of his daughter Schuyler, 14, after his opening night performance of "The Music Man" in Hollywood's Coconut Grove. Johnson recently finished a year's run with the show in London. Scheduled for a five-week stand at the Ambassador Hotel night spot, "The Music Man" is the first current hit musical to play at the Coconut Grove in the club's 41-year history.

Pick Panel For State VNA Meeting

NEENAH — Panelists who will discuss extension of health insurance coverage, public relations and the relationship of Visiting Nurse associations to nursing homes at the Tuesday State Biennial Institute of Visiting Nurse Associations have been announced. The institute for representatives of VNA boards of directors from throughout the state will be held at North Shore Golf Club.

Mrs. Fred Hollenbeck, Menasha, will be moderator. Board members on the panel will be Mrs. Clifford Battist, Beloit; Mrs. William G. Grannis, Madison; the Rev. Carl Hagen, Green Bay, and Mrs. Otto Kaufman Jr., Sheboygan. Directors on the panel will be Miss Emma Kuehlthau, Milwaukee; Miss Aileen Remmel, Neenah; Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Ellen Scheel, Wausau.

Gerald Aldridge, administrator of Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, will give the opening address on "The Relationship between Hospitals and VNAs" at 9:30 a. m.

The afternoon session will include group discussions of special VNA problems, such as type of VNA financing, recruitment and education of board members, volunteer work committees, the salary range for nurses and closer ties between VNA staff and board.

Among ALL 1,089 Newspapers Published in the United States and Canada Publishing in Color
Advertising the Appleton Post-Crescent is now...

33rd in the NATION IN RETAIL COLOR ADVERTISING!

1961 Post-Crescent Color Linage... 919,336

It may be noted that, with the advent of the Sunday Post-Crescent on September 24, 1961, the comparison of Post-Crescent Retail Color advertising lineage is now against all 1,089 newspapers published in the United States — and...

Nevertheless, and despite the fact that the Post-Crescent has included 57,000 color advertisements in its 1961 SUNDAYS for most or all of the other newspapers in the nation, it ranked 33rd in the nation.

Prior to the start of the Sunday paper, the Post-Crescent reached the enviable position of 11th in the nation in Retail color advertising lineage based on comparison, in 1960, with all other 6-day newspapers.

We are confident that Fox Cities Retail Merchants will continue to increase their use of retail color advertising in the Post-Crescent each year. The foregoing example of their use of color which has been responsible for the attainment of the Post-Crescent's present high ranking in Retail Color advertising lineage is proof that...
